Court Kills Conviction Of Bridges

Supreme Court Rules Indictment Must Be Dropped on Technical Point

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The Supreme Court today reversed the perjury-conspiracy conviction of Harry Bridges, left wing West coast longshore leader.

The high tribunal directed that the indictment against Bridges be dismissed.

The Australian-born Bridges was convicted of lying when he told a 1945 naturalization hearing that he was not a Communist. He was sentenced to five years in federal prison and his United States citizenship was revoked.

Indicted in 1949

Bridges was indicted in 1949, as a result of the statement he made in 1945 at the naturalization hearing.

Justice Burton said the statute of limitations—that is the law governing the period in which crimes may be charged—had run out. Hence Burton said, the indictment "came too late to be effective."

Justice Reed wrote a dissenting opinion in which Chief Justice Vinson and Justice Minton joined.

Justices Jackson and Clark took no part, making the vote 4-3. With Burton in the majority were Justices Black, Frankfurter and Douglas.

May Not Be Sued

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The Supreme Court decided 7-0 today that a house owner may not be sued for violating a racial covenant.

The decision was an extension of a 1948 ruling by the high court that restrictive real estate covenants of that kind are legal on a voluntary basis but cannot be enforced in the courts.

Today's finding applied specifically to a Los Angeles property formerly owned by Leola Jackson. Three neighbors sought damages from her on the ground she violated a 1944 agreement when she sold her house in 1950.

Justice Minton delivered the court's decision. Justices Reed and Jackson took no part.

Involved Agreement

The case involved an agreement that properties in the neighborhood were never to be occupied by any person "not wholly of the white or Caucasian race." The signers also agreed that the restriction would be included in all papers and transfers of properties.

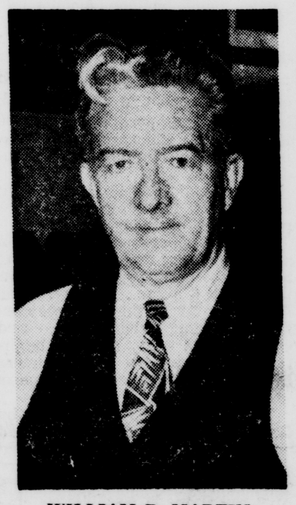

Miss Jackson did not include a restrictive racial clause in the deed when she sold the house. Seven months after the sale, Negroes moved into the house. The three neighbors in seeking damages in state court said property values suffered a severe drop after the Negroes moved in.

The California courts dismissed the neighbors' damage suit and cited the 1948 Supreme Court ruling.

William B. Martin Dies Suddenly; Was Former Assessor

Kingston Print Shop Proprietor Was Known Widely; Republican Committeeman

William B. Martin, 65, proprietor of the Kingston Print Shop on Hurley avenue and a well known civic leader, died suddenly early today. He resided at 28 Taylor street.

At the time of his death, Martin was Republican committeeman for the 12th Ward and was president of Excelsior Hose Company No. 4.

Word of his death came as a shock to residents of Kingston this morning. A master printer, Martin had been at work at his print shop at 12 Hurley avenue throught last week. He had also been actively engaged in making arrangements for the appearance here of a carnival from June 29 through July 4 under the auspices of the Excelsior Hose Company, a volunteer fire company to which he had devoted countless hours over his lifetime.

Born in Kingston August 6, 1887, he was the son of the late James E. and Mary McQuire Martin, and was a life-long resident of this city.

He was employed for many years by the Kingston Daily Leader, resigning 35 years ago to establish his own print shop.

ITU Member 45 Years

He was a member of Kingston Local 322, International Typographical Union, for 45 years. In May, 1947, he was honored at a meeting of that group at Moose Hall and was presented with his 40-year membership pin. He was a past president of the Kingston Metal Trades Union.

Martin held office practically all his adult life in the Excelsior Hose Company, whose quarters adjoined his print shop on Hurley avenue. Coming through offices including those of first assistant foreman and foreman, he was president and a life member of the company at the time of his death. He was also a past president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Fireman's Association.

Alderman 12 Years

He had served 12 years as alderman of the 12th ward and was city assessor under Mayors Morris Block and Eugene Carey. He had been candidate for mayor of the city and for Ulster county Clerk, and at the time of his death was Republican committeeman for his ward. A son, James E. Martin, is the ward's present supervisor. Mr. Martin was a former appraiser for the Rondout Riparian Commission.

Sometimes known as the "mayor of Higginsville," Martin took a warm, personal interest in that section of the city and was considered a personal friend by practically everyone who lived or conducted business there.

He was a member of St. Joseph's Church, St. Joseph's Holy Name Society and of Kingston Council No. 275, Knights of Columbus.

Observers Mystified by Red Onslaught —Liaison Officers Convene Secretly

Munsan, June 15 (AP)—Signs of a quick truce increased today even as Communist armies to the east smashed south in a stretch drive offensive.

Although reasons behind the eleventh hour Red attack left observers mystified, these developments pointed to an imminent armistice:

1. Word leaked out that staff officers writing the last details of an armistice have struck no snags. However, they may have to consider the changing battle line, which might change the 2½-mile-wide buffer zone they are setting up.

2. Allied and Red liaison officers met in secret for 19 minutes. A spokesman said only that they met to discuss administrative details pertaining to the truce negotiations. However, they could have arranged for the next meeting of the main truce negotiation delegations, which have been in recess a week. The main delegates must approve the details written by staff officers.

3. Troops and supply trucks poured into this base camp as the allies rushed preparations for the huge prisoner exchange to follow an armistice.

Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, UN field commander, warned his Eighth Army by radio that the impending armistice would not end the war in itself and told the soldiers to stay ready to fight if necessary. He said the "possibility of an armistice has increased to the point that we must consider what a signing would mean. . . ."

Lengthy Sessions Held

The staff officers of both sides —working in two groups—held lengthy sessions Sunday. One group is believed drawing the demarcation line for the buffer zone and the other writing details for prisoner exchange. They recessed until 11 a. m. Tuesday (9 p. m. Monday, EST).

President Syngman Rhee called off the anti-truce demonstrations which echoed for five days in South Korean streets. However, there was no indication the South Korean government has backed down on its unbending opposition to the armistice and its threats to carry on the war by itself.

Despite Rhee's ban, an estimated 5,000 Korean Christians paraded through Pusan's streets today, carrying Bibles and hymnbooks and chanting "Onward Christian Soldiers to the North."

No Parade Disorders

Other small groups of demonstrators—most youth organizations—paraded in Pusan during the day. No disorders were reported.

Just what was behind the heavy Red blows in the apparently-waning hours of the three-year-old war was anyone's guess. Military men and truce observers offered these possible reasons:

U. S. Spent 101 Billion on Arms, Korea in 3 Years

Outlay Forms 3½ Million Force and Expansion of Weapons for All Service Units

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The United States has spent about $101,740,000,000 in the past three years on rearmament and the Korean war, the Defense Department estimated today.

During that time, Congress has granted the military $155,579,000,000 in new obligation authority—the right to contract for material and service.

With the help of the $101,740,000,000 expenditure, the Defense Department has formed a force of about 3½ million men, started re-equipping and expanding the number of weapons for the air force, army and navy and fought the Korean war. This expenditure does not include money used by the Atomic Energy Commission for atomic bombs.

In a similar three-year period of World War 2 (the fiscal years 1942-44, inclusive) expenditures were $162,767,000,000. In that time, the strength of the armed forces increased to about 11 millions. The war was being fought on fronts in Europe and the Pacific.

One thing demonstrated here is that the price of war, line costs for everything else, rose sharply over a decade. Everything, from the cost of a bomber to the salary of a soldier, is higher.

The Defense Department estimate for expenditures in the fiscal year ending with the close of this month is about $43,001,000,000. It calculates the military establishment — all the armed forces—will enter the new fiscal year with $62,600,000,000 over previous appropriations.

Plan May Be To Get More Territory

U. S. Third, ROKs Halt Thrust in Section to West of Communist Breakthrough

Seoul, June 15 (AP) — Thirty thousand Communists ripped into Allied lines today, breaking through as deep as two miles in the mightiest Red offensive in two years.

Two South Korean divisions on the east-central front buckled under an assault by two fresh Chinese divisions — about 20,000 soldiers.

A few miles to the west, another 10,000 Reds pierced Allied lines in several places before they were halted in bloody trench fighting by infantrymen of the U. S. Third and South Korean Ninth Divisions.

U. S. airmen flying shuttle missions dumped more than 2¼ million tons of bombs on the flaming 40-mile front. Smoke of battle could be seen for 60 miles.

Greatest Since 1951

It was the greatest Red drive since the 1951 Spring offensive, and apparently intended to gain the Communists as much ground as possible before the impending armistice.

Fighting raged throughout the day and last reports described it as 'fluid' — meaning in full blast and undecided.

"We are still trying to find out what is hurting us and how badly," an American military advisor to the South Koreans reported.

Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farnetti, at the front, said in the afternoon it appeared the South Koreans and Chinese still were locked in see-saw combat on vital ground.

The Communists engulfed Capitol Hill and Outpost Texas, south of Kumsong, and had the South Korean Fifth and Eighth Divisions reeling south toward the Pukhan river.

Fragmentary dispatches from the front painted a bloody picture of reckless Chinee pouring over a 3,000-foot peak which dominates the area held by the two ROK divisions.

Taylor Goes to Front

Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Eighth Army commander, went to the front for a firsthand inspection, after warning his troops in a Sunday broadcast that the impending armistice would not in itself mean an end to the war. He urged them to be ready to fight at any time if the Reds break the armistice terms.

Gen. Paik Sun Yup, army chief of staff, also was at the front, conferring with South Korean and U. S. commanders.

South Korean troops launched a counterattack at the eastern end of the main Communist push and forced the Reds off an outpost known as Anchor Hill. Fierce fighting raged on nearby heights. The ROKs also smashed a Chinese assault on Christmas Hill, farther east.

There were no casualty reports from the major fighting. But judging from information available on lighter Chinese attacks, Red losses were staggering.

In a demonstration of aerial superiority Sunday, allied fighters and bombers flew a record 1,600 sorties without loss or damage to a single plane. It eclipsed the previous record of 1,525 individual flights Aug. 29.

U. S. Sabre jet pilots reported they destroyed two Russian-built MIGs and damaged three others Sunday.

Weather Stations May Feel Effect

Bureau Chief Says Some Will be Closed if Funds Are Cut

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau, has told Congress that some weather bureau stations will have to be closed down if there is any sharp cutback in funds.

Whether some or all of the bureau's 60 weather stations are closed, or trimmed in operating forces, Dr. Reichelderfer recently told a Senate committee, depends on what the lawmakers do with bureau's money request for next year.

The extent of any curtailment apparently depends on how far the House is willing to go along with the Senate.

President Eisenhower asked for $26,700,000 for salaries and expenses for the bureau during the year beginning July 1. The House in passing on the Commerce Department appropriations cut this to $24,700,000.

Senate Raises Figure

But the Senate, after hearing Dr. Reichelderfer, raised the figure to 27 million dollars. The Senate committee said that amount should enable the bureau to operate all the weather stations.

Unless the House accepts the $2,300,000 Senate increase, the difference must be ironed out in a conference committee.

Dr. Reichelderfer gave the Senate a list of stations which might be subject to closing or curtailment of operations if funds were cut.

He added however, that it is not a firm list and that "we will have to talk with the Civil Aeronautics Administration: We have to talk with the air force, navy and army, to see whether closing affects them."

The stations he said were under consideration for closing if there is a lack of money include Bear Mountain, N. Y.

Asks U. S. of Europe

Strasbourg, June 15 (AP)—Jean Monnet, chief executive of the steel-coal community, called upon western Europeans today to join in the construction of a United States of Europe which would guarantee peace and prosperity for them all. Speaking to the community's legislative branch—the Schuman Plan Common Assembly—Monnet declared that a common market for steel and coal production among the community's six member states is only the first step toward a larger and fuller union.

Will Ask Increase

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield will ask for an increase in postal rates in an effort to wipe out a $594,250,000 deficit facing the Post Office Department. This was disclosed by Republican congressional leaders after their weekly conference today with President Eisenhower at the White House.

Red Appointee Approved

London, June 15 (AP)—Russia's appointment of Vasily Alexeyevic Valkov as Soviet ambassador to Yugoslavia has been approved by President Tito's government, Belgrade Radio reported today.

Parachutist Is Killed

Mannheim, Germany, June 15 (AP) — French parachutist Roger Aubouin dropped to his death from an altitude of 5,000 feet here last night before a horrified crowd of 50,000 after his parachute failed to open.

Warden Says Demand Made to Fire Aide, Six Guards at Santa Fe

Santa Fe, N. M., June 15 (AP)—Armed with meat cleavers and knives, rioting convicts at the New Mexico penitentiary seized Deputy Warden Ralph Tahash and nine guards as hostages.

Warden Morris Abram said the convicts, in a note addressed to him, demanded that Tahash and six prison guards be fired.

The 69-year-old stone walled prison last was the scene of a riot less than seven months ago when 14 convicts seized eight guards at knife point in a demand that they be allowed to escape. That riot was quelled after 20 hours.

State Police Called

State Police Chief Joe Roach called on all available state police officers today to reinforce the prison guard force.

Abram said the convict rioters demanded that Tahash and six guards be fired because they are "too rough."

The convicts promised that none of the hostages would be hurt unless the rioters are injured.

The convicts demanded to talk with Gov. Mechem and a spokesman for the press.

Abram told the convicts if they laid down their weapons and talked "like men" Gov. Mechem would see them.

Post Office Is Robbed

New York, June 15 (AP)—Burglars broke into the Woodhaven, Queens, branch post office over the weekend, and ripped open about 200 letters and 25 packages, it was discovered today. Authorities said it was impossible to estimate immediately what, and how much, was stolen. A back door to the post office had been forced open. The burglars also had rifled a desk, and had chiseled off the dial knob of a safe and driven an awl through the safe door but failed to open it, police said.

Man Returned to Home

An 84-year-old man who left his Bruceville road, High Falls, home at 5:30 a. m. Saturday and later told authorities he was on his way to Brooklyn, was intercepted by a sheriff's deputy about noon the same day as he was walking along the highway at Bloomington, towards Kingston. County Identification Officer Earl Conro, assigned to the case after Nels Pederson, 84, was reported missing at 10:35 a. m., found the aged man and returned him to his home.

Man, 54, Is Killed While Erecting TV Tower; Two Hurt

Charles Sutton, Ruby, Is Electrocuted When Installation Hits Power Line

Charles Sutton, 54, was killed and two other men were injured by electric current while they were attempting to erect a television tower at Sutton's home in Ruby on Sunday afternoon.

Injured were a son-in-law, Robert Kearney, and Stephen Kearney, both of Ruby. They were taken to the Benedictine Hospital, where their conditions this morning were reported as "fair."

Sutton was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly issued a verdict of accidental death.

Were Using Rope

State police said the three men were attempting to erect a TV tower about 4:50 p. m. Sunday. They were pulling it erect by using a rope fastened to a car, while steadying it with guide wires.

The tower was almost upright when it swung against a high tension electric wire, and Stephen Kearney, who was holding a metal guy wire, was injured by the shock, troopers said.

Robert Kearney was injured when he went to Stephen's aid, and then Sutton went to the assistance of both men and was knocked out by the current. Rushed to Kingston Hospital, he was found to be dead on arrival.

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation emergency crew, the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Department, state police and the sheriff's office were notified. Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly and Trooper H. S. Rhodes investigated for the state police. Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg and Deputy Chester A. Wolven were dispatched from the sheriff's office.

Worked in Poughkeepsie

Sutton was employed as an assembler at the DeLaval plant in Poughkeepsie. He was a member of the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Company.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret Minnikine Sutton; three sons, Charles Sutton, Jr., of Ruby, Walter R. Sutton of the U. S. Air Force at Denver, Colo., and James A. Sutton of Ruby; one daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Kearney of Ruby; his mother, Mrs. Minnie Sutton, of Ruby; a brother, Harold, also of Ruby, and two sisters, Mrs. Louella Schwartz of Kingston, and Miss Minnie Sutton of Ruby; also six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue.

Can't Relax Efforts

Bonn, Germany, June 15 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today the new Russian peace offensive in East Germany does not justify "the slightest relaxation of our common effort to build up western military strength." The supreme allied commander in Europe also called for quick action to get the six-nation European army created even though many Europeans now regard this project as doomed by strong French opposition. Ridgway held a news conference after he paid a farewell visit to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer before leaving to take up his post as chief of staff of the U. S. Army.

Fears New Red Drive

Seoul, June 15 (AP)—South Korea's defense minister, Shin Tai Yung, today called the Communists' new offsenvie in Korea a drive for positions to prepare for "another invasion of South Korea after the armistice." "Since the armistice talks began about two years ago, all the enemy was doing was to prepare for renewed attacks," Shin said in an interview.

Eisenhower Says Americans Should Use Right Ideals

Oyster Bay, June 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower, dedicating the summer home of Theodore Roosevelt as a national shrine, says Americans should emulate the late President in adhering to right principles.

Eisenhower spoke to about 8,000 persons yesterday at Sagamore Hill, the Roosevelt residence here which has been turned into a shrine.

The President said he is quite certain that "each of us in our own way will build a little monument to America" if each emulates "Theodore Roosevelt in his consideration for what we so futilely call the common man—for want of a better word."

Americans, Eisenhower said, also should emulate Roosevelt's "devotion" to American citizens, "his courage in carrying through, his wisdom in saying what was right, and adhering to the right."

Eisenhower's brief speech here opened a week-long series of ceremonies dedicating the Roosevelt shrine, a 23-room mansion built 69 years ago. It is located about 30 miles east of New York city on Long Island's north shore.

Roosevelt used the Sagamore Hill residence as a summer White House. The Theodore Roosevelt Association, a private group, purchased the house and its 20 acres. The mansion has been renovated and furnished as it was when the late President lived there.

Eisenhower spoke from the same porch from which Roosevelt spoke when notified of his nomination for vice president on the Republican ticket in 1900 and for president in 1904.

Rhee Warns Against Stories Trying to Make Trouble

Seoul, June 15 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee warned today that he would not tolerate newsmen who spread accounts unfavorable to the Republic of Korea.

Rhee said in a statement:

"There are some correspondents, both local and foreign, who are spreading accounts unfavorable to the Republic of Korea. Now that our country is facing a national crisis, we warn that we will not tolerate the activities of these correspondents, should they continue to evoke international hostility and thereby precipitate our national crisis."

Rhee did not name any correspondents.

He said he had read news reports that American soldiers "caused injuries to our high school girls (during anti-truce demonstrations last week) with razor blades and committed other inhuman acts and I am extremely shocked."

"No matter what they say about them, there are absolutely no Americans who attempt to commit such diabolic acts as to cut the arms of females. Should there be ones who have witnessed Americans perpetrate acts of this nature, they must present proof at the office of the secretary to the president.

"Even if these reports are true, news reporters and editors should be extremely careful in handling accounts of this nature. They should not be careless enough to have these accounts published."

He said any such incidents should be reported to the government for handling.

"Should there be wicked elements who capitalize on these critical hours, incite public sentiment and cause clashes between us and our allies, we must see to it that every one of them is arrested and detained in prison.

"We have to make utmost exertion at this time . . . so as not to cause any misunderstanding among our allies. These misunderstandings will prevent us from acquainting the people throughout the world with our intentions."

Rhee's statement did not mention any specific incident.

The account of the girls being cut by razor blades was carried in Korean newspapers. It was not certain whether any American news outlets carried the story.

Short Circuit Blamed

Santa Fe, N. M., June 15 (AP)—Armed with meat cleavers and knives, rioting convicts at the New Mexico penitentiary seized Deputy Warden Ralph Tahash and nine guards as hostages.

Warden Morris Abram said the convicts, in a note addressed to him, demanded that Tahash and six prison guards be fired.

The 69-year-old stone walled prison last was the scene of a riot less than seven months ago when 14 convicts seized eight guards at knife point in a demand that they be allowed to escape. That riot was quelled after 20 hours.

State Police Called

State Police Chief Joe Roach called on all available state police officers today to reinforce the prison guard force.

Abram said the convict rioters demanded that Tahash and six guards be fired because they are "too rough."

The convicts promised that none of the hostages would be hurt unless the rioters are injured.

The convicts demanded to talk with Gov. Mechem and a spokesman for the press.

Abram told the convicts if they laid down their weapons and talked "like men" Gov. Mechem would see them.

Weather Stations May Feel Effect

Bureau Chief Says Some Will Be Closed if Funds Are Cut

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Dr. F. W. Reichelderfer, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau, has told Congress that some weather bureau stations will have to be closed down if there is any sharp cutback in funds.

Whether some or all of the bureau's 60 weather stations are closed, or trimmed in operating forces, Dr. Reichelderfer recently told a Senate committee, depends on what the lawmakers do with bureau's money request for next year.

The extent of any curtailment apparently depends on how far the House is willing to go along with the Senate.

President Eisenhower asked for $26,700,000 for salaries and expenses for the bureau during the year beginning July 1. The House in passing on the Commerce Department appropriations cut this to $24,700,000.

Senate Raises Figure

But the Senate, after hearing Dr. Reichelderfer, raised the figure to 27 million dollars. The Senate committee said that amount should enable the bureau to operate all the weather stations.

Unless the House accepts the $2,300,000 Senate increase, the difference must be ironed out in a conference committee.

Dr. Reichelderfer gave the Senate a list of stations which might be subject to closing or curtailment of operations if funds were cut.

He added however, that it is not a firm list and that "we will have to talk with the Civil Aeronautics Administration: We have to talk with the air force, navy and army, to see whether closing affects them."

The stations he said were under consideration for closing if there is a lack of money include Bear Mountain, N. Y.

Asks U. S. of Europe

The burglars also had rifled a desk, and had chiseled off the dial knob of a safe and driven an awl through the safe door but failed to open it, police said.

Man, 54, Is Killed While Erecting TV Tower; Two Hurt

Charles Sutton, Ruby, Is Electrocuted When Installation Hits Power Line

Charles Sutton, 54, was killed and two other men were injured by electric current while they were attempting to erect a television tower at Sutton's home in Ruby on Sunday afternoon.

Injured were a son-in-law, Robert Kearney, and Stephen Kearney, both of Ruby. They were taken to the Benedictine Hospital, where their conditions this morning were reported as "fair."

Sutton was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly issued a verdict of accidental death.

Were Using Rope

State police said the three men were attempting to erect a TV tower about 4:50 p. m. Sunday. They were pulling it erect by using a rope fastened to a car, while steadying it with guide wires.

The tower was almost upright when it swung against a high tension electric wire, and Stephen Kearney, who was holding a metal guy wire, was injured by the shock, troopers said.

Robert Kearney was injured when he went to Stephen's aid, and then Sutton went to the assistance of both men and was knocked out by the current. Rushed to Kingston Hospital, he was found to be dead on arrival.

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation emergency crew, the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Department, state police and the sheriff's office were notified. Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly and Trooper H. S. Rhodes investigated for the state police. Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg and Deputy Chester A. Wolven were dispatched from the sheriff's office.

Worked in Poughkeepsie

Sutton was employed as an assembler at the DeLaval plant in Poughkeepsie. He was a member of the Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire Company.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret Minnikine Sutton; three sons, Charles Sutton, Jr., of Ruby, Walter R. Sutton of the U. S. Air Force at Denver, Colo., and James A. Sutton of Ruby; one daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Kearney of Ruby; his mother, Mrs. Minnie Sutton, of Ruby; a brother, Harold, also of Ruby, and two sisters, Mrs. Louella Schwartz of Kingston, and Miss Minnie Sutton of Ruby; also six grandchildren.

Can't Relax Efforts

Bonn, Germany, June 15 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today the new Russian peace offensive in East Germany does not justify "the slightest relaxation of our common effort to build up western military strength." The supreme allied commander in Europe also called for quick action to get the six-nation European army created even though many Europeans now regard this project as doomed by strong French opposition. Ridgway held a news conference after he paid a farewell visit to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer before leaving to take up his post as chief of staff of the U. S. Army.

Eisenhower Says Americans Should Use Right Ideals

Oyster Bay, June 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower, dedicating the summer home of Theodore Roosevelt as a national shrine, says Americans should emulate the late President in adhering to right principles.

Eisenhower spoke to about 8,000 persons yesterday at Sagamore Hill, the Roosevelt residence here which has been turned into a shrine.

The President said he is quite certain that "each of us in our own way will build a little monument to America" if each emulates "Theodore Roosevelt in his consideration for what we so futilely call the common man—for want of a better word."

Americans, Eisenhower said, also should emulate Roosevelt's "devotion" to American citizens, "his courage in carrying through, his wisdom in saying what was right, and adhering to the right."

Eisenhower's brief speech here opened a week-long series of ceremonies dedicating the Roosevelt shrine, a 23-room mansion built 69 years ago. It is located about 30 miles east of New York city on Long Island's north shore.

Roosevelt used the Sagamore Hill residence as a summer White House. The Theodore Roosevelt Association, a private group, purchased the house and its 20 acres. The mansion has been renovated and furnished as it was when the late President lived there.

Eisenhower spoke from the same porch from which Roosevelt spoke when notified of his nomination for vice president on the Republican ticket in 1900 and for president in 1904.

William B. Martin Dies Suddenly; Was Former Assessor

William B. Martin, 65, proprietor of the Kingston Print Shop on Hurley avenue and a well known civic leader, died suddenly early today. He resided at 28 Taylor street.

At the time of his death, Martin was Republican committeeman for the 12th Ward and was president of Excelsior Hose Company No. 4.

Word of his death came as a shock to residents of Kingston this morning. A master printer, Martin had been at work at his print shop at 12 Hurley avenue throught last week. He had also been actively engaged in making arrangements for the appearance here of a carnival from June 29 through July 4 under the auspices of the Excelsior Hose Company, a volunteer fire company to which he had devoted countless hours over his lifetime.

Born in Kingston August 6, 1887, he was the son of the late James E. and Mary McQuire Martin, and was a life-long resident of this city.

He was employed for many years by the Kingston Daily Leader, resigning 35 years ago to establish his own print shop.

ITU Member 45 Years

He was a member of Kingston Local 322, International Typographical Union, for 45 years. In May, 1947, he was honored at a meeting of that group at Moose Hall and was presented with his 40-year membership pin. He was a past president of the Kingston Metal Trades Union.

Martin held office practically all his adult life in the Excelsior Hose Company, whose quarters adjoined his print shop on Hurley avenue. Coming through offices including those of first assistant foreman and foreman, he was president and a life member of the company at the time of his death. He was also a past president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Fireman's Association.

Alderman 12 Years

He had served 12 years as alderman of the 12th ward and was city assessor under Mayors Morris Block and Eugene Carey. He had been candidate for mayor of the city and for Ulster county Clerk, and at the time of his death was Republican committeeman for his ward. A son, James E. Martin, is the ward's present supervisor. Mr. Martin was a former appraiser for the Rondout Riparian Commission.

U. S. Spent 101 Billion on Arms, Korea in 3 Years

Outlay Forms 3½ Million Force and Expansion of Weapons for All Service Units

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The United States has spent about $101,740,000,000 in the past three years on rearmament and the Korean war, the Defense Department estimated today.

During that time, Congress has granted the military $155,579,000,000 in new obligation authority—the right to contract for material and service.

With the help of the $101,740,000,000 expenditure, the Defense Department has formed a force of about 3½ million men, started re-equipping and expanding the number of weapons for the air force, army and navy and fought the Korean war. This expenditure does not include money used by the Atomic Energy Commission for atomic bombs.

In a similar three-year period of World War 2 (the fiscal years 1942-44, inclusive) expenditures were $162,767,000,000. In that time, the strength of the armed forces increased to about 11 millions. The war was being fought on fronts in Europe and the Pacific.

One thing demonstrated here is that the price of war, line costs for everything else, rose sharply over a decade. Everything, from the cost of a bomber to the salary of a soldier, is higher.

The Defense Department estimate for expenditures in the fiscal year ending with the close of this month is about $43,001,000,000. It calculates the military establishment — all the armed forces—will enter the new fiscal year with $62,600,000,000 over previous appropriations.

Rhee Warns Against Stories Trying to Make Trouble

Seoul, June 15 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee warned today that he would not tolerate newsmen who spread accounts unfavorable to the Republic of Korea.

Rhee said in a statement:

"There are some correspondents, both local and foreign, who are spreading accounts unfavorable to the Republic of Korea. Now that our country is facing a national crisis, we warn that we will not tolerate the activities of these correspondents, should they continue to evoke international hostility and thereby precipitate our national crisis."

Rhee did not name any correspondents.

He said he had read news reports that American soldiers "caused injuries to our high school girls (during anti-truce demonstrations last week) with razor blades and committed other inhuman acts and I am extremely shocked."

"No matter what they say about them, there are absolutely no Americans who attempt to commit such diabolic acts as to cut the arms of females. Should there be ones who have witnessed Americans perpetrate acts of this nature, they must present proof at the office of the secretary to the president.

"Even if these reports are true, news reporters and editors should be extremely careful in handling accounts of this nature. They should not be careless enough to have these accounts published."

He said any such incidents should be reported to the government for handling.

"Should there be wicked elements who capitalize on these critical hours, incite public sentiment and cause clashes between us and our allies, we must see to it that every one of them is arrested and detained in prison.

"We have to make utmost exertion at this time . . . so as not to cause any misunderstanding among our allies. These misunderstandings will prevent us from acquainting the people throughout the world with our intentions."

Rhee's statement did not mention any specific incident.

The account of the girls being cut by razor blades was carried in Korean newspapers. It was not certain whether any American news outlets carried the story.

Break in Valve Has Been Repaired

A break in one of the main hydraulic valves at the city's filter plant in Zena, which curtailed service over part of the weekend, has been temporarily repaired, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, said today.

The valve which broke, Cloonan said, was 27 years old. It will be replaced as soon as possible.

Water department workmen started making repairs at 8 a. m., Saturday, and they were completed at 6 p. m., Sunday. The flow of water to the city was curtailed during that time, and Cloonan said today he was thankful for cooperation of consumers in conserving water while repairs were being made.

The break was inspected by Benjamin Schecter, water board president, and Harry Edinger and Fred Wadanolo, of the county health department. The temporary repair made possible restoration of full service Cloonan said.

Simon R. Kaplan Arrest Is Ordered

New York, June 15 (AP) — A bench warrant for the arrest of Simon R. Kaplan, formerly of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was issued today when he failed to answer a charge of reneging on an employe's wages.

Special Sessions Court Justice Matthew Troy revoked the parole on which Kaplan had been placed when the charge first was brought, and ordered him arrested and put under bail of $1,000.

Kaplan was charged earlier this year in a criminal information filed by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan with failing to pay wages to his secretary, Mrs. Irene Karadisecky, of New York.

The case had been scheduled for trial today.

Mrs. Karadisecky, who was in court, said Kaplan was a steel broker, with offices on Madison avenue at the time she worked for him.

He formerly had held the garbage-collecting contract in Poughkeepsie for many years.

Mrs. Karadisecky claimed he failed to pay her $50 weekly salary from June 19, 1951; through November 28, 1951, a total of $1,200.

He allegedly gave her three checks in partial payment, all of which she said were returned by the bank marked insufficient funds.

Break in Valve Has Been Repaired

A break in one of the main hydraulic valves at the city's filter plant in Zena, which curtailed service over part of the weekend, has been temporarily repaired, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, said today.

The valve which broke, Cloonan said, was 27 years old. It will be replaced as soon as possible.

Water department workmen started making repairs at 8 a. m., Saturday, and they were completed at 6 p. m., Sunday. The flow of water to the city was curtailed during that time, and Cloonan said today he was thankful for cooperation of consumers in conserving water while repairs were being made.

The break was inspected by Benjamin Schecter, water board president, and Harry Edinger and Fred Wadanolo, of the county health department. The temporary repair made possible restoration of full service Cloonan said.

Autry was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Albert Lester of the town of Lloyd on a charge of assault in the second degree. Hearing was adjourned until today and Autry was taken to the county jail to await hearing.

Simon R. Kaplan Arrest Is Ordered

New York, June 15 (AP) — A bench warrant for the arrest of Simon R. Kaplan, formerly of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was issued today when he failed to answer a charge of reneging on an employe's wages.

Special Sessions Court Justice Matthew Troy revoked the parole on which Kaplan had been placed when the charge first was brought, and ordered him arrested and put under bail of $1,000.

Kaplan was charged earlier this year in a criminal information filed by District Attorney Frank S. Hogan with failing to pay wages to his secretary, Mrs. Irene Karadisecky, of New York.

The case had been scheduled for trial today.

Mrs. Karadisecky, who was in court, said Kaplan was a steel broker, with offices on Madison avenue at the time she worked for him.

He formerly had held the garbage-collecting contract in Poughkeepsie for many years.

Mrs. Karadisecky claimed he failed to pay her $50 weekly salary from June 19, 1951, through November 28, 1951, a total of $1,200.

He allegedly gave her three checks in partial payment, all of which she said were returned by the bank marked insufficient funds.

Red Cross Appeals For More Funds to Aid Disaster Areas

An appeal for funds was made today by the local Red Cross Chapter to help the national organization meet the heavy financial responsibilities it must assume as a result of the recent series of nation-wide disasters.

The following telegram was received by Mrs. Samuel J. Adams, chairman of the local chapter, from E. Roland Harriman, president of the American National Red Cross:

"The last two months have been among the most destructive and costly in Red Cross disaster experience. Since April 18 there have been 14 major disaster operations. Emergency relief and rehabilitation so far provided for the victims has virtually wiped out our entire disaster budget for the current fiscal year. Thus additional funds will be required to meet the needs created these last few days by floods in Iowa and vicious tornadoes in Michigan, Ohio, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. Rehabilitation costs for all recent disasters will carry over into the next fiscal year. They will be very heavy and so we will need the full support of the American people to help those who have suffered personal loss in these catastrophies to help themselves."

$400,000 Is Alloted

Yesterday the Red Cross made an initial allotment of $400,000 to meet emergency needs of victims of these latest disasters. This brought to a total of $3,832,668 the amount the Red Cross will expend for disasters in the present fiscal year.

During this brief period of two months 384 people have been killed, 3,772 have been so seriously injured that they required hospitalization, and the homes of 16,651 families have been either totally destroyed or have suffered major damage.

Mrs. Adams calls upon residents of Ulster county to respond generously to this urgent appeal. Since there is not time for a house to house canvass, contributions are to be sent to the local Red Cross Chapter at 308 Clinton avenue, Kingston.

Tributes Are Many For D. S. Freeman

DOUGLAS S. FREEMAN

Richmond, Va., June 15 (AP)—Tributes poured in today for the late Douglas Southall Freeman, newspaper editor, historian and Pulitzer prize-winning biographer. He died Saturday of a heart attack at his home at the age of 67.

Freeman, who spotted in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower the qualities he thought the country needed, urged the general to heed the call for political service. Eisenhower said later that his friend, Freeman, had been "the first man in the United States who ever got me to thinking seriously about a possible political career."

Editor of the Richmond News-Leader for 34 years, from 1915 to his retirement in 1949, he won a Pulitzer prize in 1935 for his four-volume biography of Gen. Robert E. Lee. He followed with a series on Lee's top lieutenants. This was a labor of love and admiration. In 1903—when he was 17 years old—Freeman saw some lame veterans at a Confederate reunion, and vowed he would write the story of the Confederacy and Lee.

Was Washington Biographer

The task done, he found biographical gaps in works on another southerner, George Washington, and plunged into research on him. By last fall he had completed five volumes of the planned eight-volume biography. He was almost ready at the time of death to send the sixth volume to the publisher.

Freeman, who also was a military analyst, Richmond radio commentator and lecturer, did his last radio stint Saturday morning a few hours before he died.

He was born in Lynchburg, Va. He was a Democrat and generally took a middle-of-the-road course in his News-Leader editorials. Last fall he was an active Eisenhower supporter.

70 Persons Are Killed

Sao Paulo, Brazil, June 15 (AP)—About 70 persons were killed early yesterday in a mad rush from a second-story Negro dance hall after a fire broke out in a dry goods store below. Another 70 persons were injured. When the club director told the crowd of 300 the building was on fire, the dancers pushed toward the single narrow stairway. Some fell in the frenzy and the stairway became clogged. Police said later they found a solid pile of bodies on the stairway. Only a few had died from burns. The rest suffocated or were trampled.

Civil Service Exam

An examination for equipment specialist, automotive and equipment specialist, armament, has been announced by the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Raritan Arsenal, Metuchen, N. J. Entrance salary is $7,040 a year. Additional information and application forms may be secured from the Metuchen office of the civil service or from any first or second-class post offices.

Will Deliver Jets

Taipeh, Formosa, June 15 (AP)—The first American jet warplanes for Nationalist China will be delivered tomorrow. The number and type have not been disclosed. But they probably will be only a small fraction of the 150 the Nationalist air forces says are needed.

Ulster Classis to Meet

The Classis of Ulster will hold a special meeting Friday, June 19, at the Blue Mountain Church to receive the Rev. August Pfaus, Jr., and to install him as pastor of the church. The Rev. Arthur E. ENGINEERS CAN'T SAVE DRIVER

The season of bumper-to-bumper vacation motoring is upon us again; and the harassed man behind the wheel is going to have to listen to his annual summer lecture on safe driving.

Hearing that today's automobiles have a higher safety factor than ever before, and seeing more and more modern, multi-lane highways coming into being, the poor motorist must be baffled to realize that his problems are no closer to solution.

Yet in many ways they are not. Motor accident and fatality rates are still high generally.

One obvious reason is that, even with all the new highways, the nation's roads today are vastly overcrowded and getting worse. The driver is lucky whose fenders don't show the effects of this abrasive stream of traffic.

It's an old story by now that the highway builders, for lack of money and time, aren't keeping up either with the need for new roads or with the necessity for maintaining the old. Meantime, the motormakers pour millions of new cars onto the existing inadequate network.

But even where highway engineering is of the finest, as in the New Jersey Turnpike, for instance, there is no assurance that accidents will not be far more numerous than they should.

In the first quarter of 1953, this turnpike's accident rate was 66.0 per 100 million miles of travel. As compared with 480.0 for major New Jersey roads in the same period, and with 114.8 on the turnpike in the parallel 1952 span, this record is excellent.

Still, highway specialists don't look on such a record complacently. For they realize — and their investigations support this — that human failures are responsible for virtually all the mishaps. And the story is probably much the same on other superthoroughfares like the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

In other words, you really can't hope to engineer complete motoring safety. The unpredictable human element stands in the way. If 50 million drivers have not or will not learn all the fundamental driving skills, and practice them constantly, then accidents in discouraging numbers will go on happening.

The unmanageable volume of traffic multiplies many times the accident possibilities, the occasions when any given motorist is exposed to danger.

If he cannot remain continuously alert, watching far in front of him, to right and left and to the rear, he is almost certain to encounter trouble. No car, no highway, no engineering can protect him from this necessity to be the final guardian of his own safety.

Many new apartment houses and commercial buildings are required to have a parking space for each car. Now if only the new automobiles also came that way things would be fine.

THE LADU METHOD

Maybe Roscoe Ladau has the right answer. Keep yourself so occupied with the simple business of living that you haven't time to worry about atom bombs, wars, taxes, and the like. Ladau, according to press dispatches, lives in a trailer in Albany, with his wife and four children, a mode of exisence that would keep the average man pretty well occupied. But Ladau goes further. He also has five monkeys, six dogs and 16 birds. Try operating both a zoo and a kindergarten in an 8-by-20 trailer some time and see if you have time for any such petty outside annoyances as war.

The person who never fails may not be quite as successful as he would appear. Perhaps he never attempts anything.

A dramatic critic in Vienna devoted a recent article to the Marxist overtones to Romeo and Juliet. He will probably also be delighted to learn of the work of Robert Burns whose love was like a red, red rose.

Gardening and golfing, employing spading and free swinging, are hardly close companions. The man who practices his shots in the spot reserved for the future vegetable patch, however, accomplishes both at once.

THE FACTS COME OUT

The LaFollette Committee was ballyhooed as the apogee of liberalism. Young Bob La Follette was touted as one of the greatest liberals that ever hit the pike. In the examination of Charles Kramer, the Jenner Committee displayed to the country that the La Follette Committee was infiltrated by Communists and practically managed by them. Those who were so lavish in their praise of the La Follette Committee now have their consciences to reckon with.

Charles Kramer, whose name used to be Krivitsky, has been identified as one of the members of the Harold Ware Cell, which was established in 1934 to infiltrate important agencies of government. Alger Hiss, Lee Pressman, John Abt, Henry Collins, Nathan Witt and others have been identified as members of this cell. Their first place of government employment was the AAA. Kramer's next job was the NYA. He then went to the La Follette Committee. He has also been on the staff of Senator Harley M. Kilgore of West Virginia and the United Mine Workers.

Kramer at first would not say how he got his job on the La Follette Committee. He was asked whether John Abt got the job for him. He thought it might have been Abt. Senator La Follette, writing in "Collier's" magazine on February 8, 1947, admitted:

"I know from firsthand experience that Communist sympathizers have infiltrated into committee staffs on Capitol Hill in Washington. Frequently, they have been associated with desirable legislation and worthy objectives, but always ready to further their own cause at the expense of the legislation they were advocating. . . ."

In this same article, he said:

". . . The staff of the Pepper Subcommittee on Wartime Health and Education was diligent in its efforts to take matters into its own hands, and probably did great harm to the cause of improved health in this country by its reckless activities."

It may be recalled that one of the principal effects of the La Follette Committee was to establish the Republic Steel Company strike in Chicago as the "Chicago Massacre." The reputation of Tom Girdler of Republic Steel was crushed into the mud. At that time, no organization rose to defend Girdler. No liberal newspapers asserted themselves in his support. He was smeared and abused and clergymen denounced him. Yet, here 16 years later, in a Senate investigation, we find that the man who investigated this "Chicago Massacre" for the La Follette Committee was none other than Charles Kramer, identified as a member of the Harold Ware Cell, now employed by the Communist Progressive Party—a man who pleads the Fifth Amendment whenever he is asked a pertinent question.

Note this colloquy:

"Mr. Morris. Did you participate in writing a subcommitte report on the so-called Chicago Massacre, in which the subcommittee charged the Chicago Police with 'excessive force and careless indifference to human life and suffering.'?

"Mr. Kramer. Yes; I participated in writing that report."

Kramer moved from the La Follette Committee to the National Labor Relations Board. His references for that position may have been Victor Perlo, who has been named as the head of a spy ring by various witnesses and who used the Fifth Amendment when asked pertinent questions, and Robert Wohlfort, Secretary of the La Follette Committee. (There is some conflict of testimony concerning this.) On this board also was Edwin S. Smith, who pled the Fifth Amendment under investigation and who now sells Soviet Russian photographs to American newspapers and magazines. Nathan Witt also worked in the NLRB.

Mr. Robert Morris, Jenner Committee counsel, asked Kramer:

"Were you and Nat Witt secret members of the Communist Party at that time?

"Mr. Kramer. I refuse to answer that question, sir, on the same grounds." (Fifth Amendment)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

FAT CAUSES SHORTNESS OF BREATH

In former days the average young or middle-aged man who found himself becoming too fat—most of the excess fat being about the abdomen—felt that the "only" way to remove this excess fat was by doing more physical work or taking more exercise.

Although this method was slow, because he found the exercise was giving him a big appetite, nevertheless in a matter of a few weeks or months he found that the ridges of his abdominal muscles were beginning to show and he was proud of his "washboard" abdomen. Then, by cutting down on his food intake, he felt he was "fit" again.

It so happens that many of our young and middle-aged men are not allowed to take vigorous exercise because of heart, blood pressure, etc., and so must reduce weight by cutting down on the food intake which, while making him lighter, does not make him stronger as does physical exercise in which he trades his fat tissue for muscle tissue. And, as mentioned before, with the accumulation of muscle tissue there is more desire to exercise and thus prevent accumulation of fat.

One of the results of accumulation of fat across the abdomen is getting out of breath early on even slight exertion.

In their book, "Endocrine Treatment in General Practice," Drs. Max A. Goldzieher and Joseph W. Goldzieher state that signs of heart embarrassment and breathlessness may result from massive abdominal and intra-abdominal (between the organs of the abdomen) fat. This pushes the diaphragm (floor of the chest and roof of abdomen) upward, displacing the heart; simultaneously, the filling of the right auricle (part of heart receiving the used blood to be sent to the lungs) is decreased, which means the purifying of the blood in the lungs is lessened.

By getting this excess fat on and in the abdomen removed by exercise or by cutting down on food intake or by both, there is the sensation of comfort and the disappearance of shortness of breath and other heart symptoms.

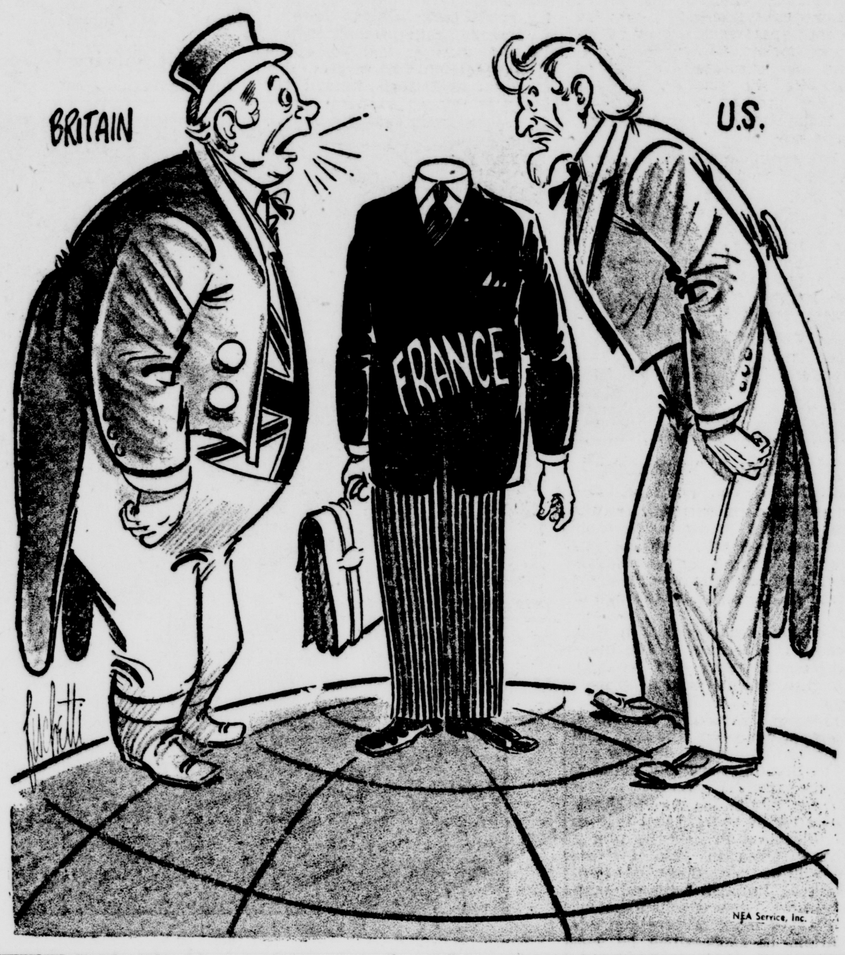

The simple exercise of "trying" to touch the toes, keeping the knees straight, in fact, any forward or sideways bending, keeping knees straight, will gradually develop the abdominal muscles so that the ridges or cross-bars of muscle will appear as fat disappears. About five minutes night and morning could not be better invested. Gladstone, the British statesman, who kept strong at an advanced age stated that all time and money spent in exercise paid a higher rate of interest than any other investment.

"We Request the Bermuda---er---Talks Be Delayed"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

Washington, (NEA) — While much attention has been paid to reviewing the accomplishments of President Eisenhower's first months in the White House, it is equally profitable now to take stock of Sen. Robert A. Taft's half of the administration. Mr. Republican has now been Senate majority leader for five months.

It is true that no later than April 9, Senator Taft told the Republican National Committee that President Eisenhower would be re-elected in 1956. Furthermore, after the Chicago convention last year, Senator Taft said that he had made his last bid for the White House.

Senator Taft is a year older than President Eisenhower. Taft will be 64 on Sept. 8. By election day, 1956, he would be 67. Only one President, William Henry Harrison, at 68, was older on inauguration day. And he died a month after taking office.

But — if President Eisenhower decided not to run in 1956—or if President Eisenhower tried to toss his torch to someone like Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, whom Taft Republicans hate—or if Senator Taft did not like the way the Eisenhower crowd had been running things—

Well, politicians, like women, claim a divine right to change their minds. And some of the people to whom the senator has been talking recently have come out of his office saying that he still had ideas about the White House and how it should be run.

Certainly, everything that Senator Taft has said and done in the five months since the Republicans took over has indicated that he has a program of his own—whether Eisenhower has or not. And Taft does not bother to clear his statements with the White House.

Press Meetings Air Taft's Views

President Eisenhower has a press conference only two or three times a month. Reporters on Capitol Hill see Senator Taft two or three times a day. Taft's ideas today are therefore better known than the President's, and there are more of them.

On domestic policies, Senator Taft has in general gone along with the Eisenhower leadership. This has caused many Washington observers to comment that the widely predicted split between the President and the senator simply isn't going to come off.

On foreign policy the harmony hasn't been so close. The most recent incident over the senator's speech on "let's go it alone" in Korea is only the latest of a long series of disagreements. It is on the basis of this record that there is justification for concluding an Eisenhower-Taft split over foreign policy will come eventually.

President Eisenhower is essentially a believer in international cooperation to overcome potential enemies and ensure peace in the world. Senator Taft clings to the idea of making the United States strong internally, basing American defense primarily on that, giving less aid and placing less reliance on foreign allies. Call this policy isolation if you will.

Thus far in the Eisenhower administration it would appear that the senator's point of view has prevailed more often than not.

Scored Before Inauguration

Senator Taft scored his first point even before inauguration. He got from President Eisenhower a promise that no U. S. commitments would be made to the British in talks with Prime Minister Churchill.

There were many misgivings when Senator Taft took a post on the Foreign Relations Committee. For nearly a month thereafter, the senator tipped no applecarts.

Then President Eisenhower sent to Congress the draft of a mild resolution against Russia's perversion of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements. Senator Taft thought it should be toughened up. He put through an amendment which in effect questioned the validity of those pacts. But instead of making an issue of it, which would have brought on an open Eisenhower-Taft break, the President's resolution was simply allowed to die. It was a Taft victory.

The evolution of Taft's Korean policy is interesting. On Feb. 9, in a radio interview, the senator declared the U. S. was already "at full war" with Communist China. He said a blockade of the China coast was desirable, if it could be worked out.

When Secretary of State John Foster Dulles went before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to soft-pedal such demands, Taft observed that much more aid could be given Asia by reducing the amount given to Europe.

On April 20, Taft expressed the hope that all the problems of Asia could be settled "at one bite"—meaning in one conference. Five weeks later he was to advocate that if truce negotiations in Korea fail, then we should let all our allies know we are withdrawing from all further negotiations. He has much support for this idea.

But that is where President Eisenhower had to say "No!"

Einstein Stand Shows His Lack of Knowledge of the American Constitution

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 15—Professor Albert Einstein's theory of "relativity" in mathematics may be difficult for the average person to understand but the advice he has just given to a New York schoolteacher to refuse to testify at all before an investigating committee of Congress is very easy to understand. It is a preachment that amounts to the encouragement of disobedience to constitutional authority.

Professor Einstein may be forgiven for his lack of knowledge of the American Constitution and the code of laws that govern his adopted land because he has come over from Europe only recently and probably has not become as familiar as he might be with either the rights or the duties of American citizens in connection with law enforcement.

For the right of a citizen to refuse to testify about himself before an investigating committee on the ground that to give such testimony would be self-incriminating is specified by the Constitution and has been repeatedly upheld by the Supreme Court. But there is no right to refuse to testify about other persons concerning whom the citizen may have knowledge even though it may bring prosecution to such persons because of the crimes they have committed or conspired to commit.

Crimes when committed usually do not have an official photographer present from the district attorney's office to obtain proof. Law enforcement can be assisted only through the cooperation of good citizens who are willing to testify as, for instance, by catching the numbers on the license plates of a hit and run driver who has killed a child. It is the same way with conspiracies to overthrow the government of the United States which according to court decisions is the avowed object of the Communist Party in the United States. Unfortunately the Moscow government doesn't furnish our government with an affidavit listing the names of their agents and helpers in the United States.

So it is important for every arm of the government to be used in a constitutional manner to elicit information to help prevent Communist conspiracies from being successful.

Professor Einstein's exact words are important to examine—he wrote as follows concerning the problem of responding to requests for information by investigating committees:

"Frankly, I can see only the revolutionary way of non-cooperation in the sense of Ghandi's. Every intellectual who is called before one of the committees ought to refuse to testify, that is he must be prepared for jail and economic ruin, in short, for the sacrifice of his personal welfare in the interest of the cultural welfare of his country.

"This refusal to testify must be based on the assertion that it is shameful for a blameless citizen to submit to such an inquisition and that this kind of inquisition violates the spirit of the Constitution."

But who is to decide whether the accused citizen is "blameless"—the citizen himself or the government to which under the Constitution there has been delegated a system of formal inquiry to be conducted by the legislative as well as the judicial branches? There is no legal protection whatsoever for the citizen who refuses to testify just because he doesn't like the views of the investigating committee or the personality of its members. A subpoena from an investigating committee can be as compelling as a subpoena from a court.

Professor Einstein says the investigating committees are composed of "reactionary politicians." He doesn't know that for generations past the investigating committee has been developed as the weapon of liberal reformers in America. One wonders what the liberals or "intellectuals" of yesterday would have said if some employer in big business had publicly advised all employers to refuse to testify before the famous Lafollette committee of the Senate not so many years ago which investigated espionage inside unions by employers and strong arm tactics allegedly used to break down unions or prevent their organization among employees.

"Methods" of committees of Congress are easy to criticize and often such methods are reprehensible but the highest courts in the land have put virtually no limit on the right of Congressional committees to elicit information and to comment thereon as they please with full immunity from prosecution. The Constitution of course could be amended by the people to repeal that right but it would be a sorry day for liberalism and the downtrodden or exploited minorities if that ever happened. The true liberals of today might well recall the legal opinion of a great liberal, the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes who said "freedom of speech is freedom for the thought we hate."

Comments by investigating committee members however irrelevant or distasteful or unjust are protected by the freedom of expression clause of the Constitution and by the freedom to gather information in order to legislate, which the Constitution gave to Congress as a concomitant right. The remedy against abuse is not to encourage the citizen to defy the provisions of the existing Constitution but to agitate for their modification or repeal and to crusade for the defeat at the polls of all members of Congress whose views are disliked by a majority of the voters of a district or a state.

It takes time to get all the facts understood when highly controversial issues are at stake but the people's true will in resolving those issues ultimately prevails. The place to encourage revolution and sedition is among the peoples behind the Iron Curtain who are up against despotic governments than menace the peace of the world.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I regard Clement Attlee, the Socialist who was prime minister of Great Britain, as a friend of communism not only because he threw a Communist salute of the clenched fist to a British unit in the Spanish Communist army, but because his legislative program and political aims during his reign both pointed toward total Marxism.

However, I find it necessary sometimes to agree even with Communists. This is not embarrassing because there are times when the truth happens to serve their purposes. In such cases, it would be foolish of an honest man to let them chase him off a truth for fear of having to share it temporarily with persons who are repulsive to him.

I found an example of this in my agreement with the Muscovite Communists in Paris that President Eisenhower's friend and sub rosa political agent, Irving Brown, of the Dave Dubinsky political apparatus in Europe, has no right to meddle in French domestic politics, even to haras and frustrate the Kremlin's agents in France. This illegal interference by this synthetic hero of hypothetical barricades is inconvenient to the Soviet purpose in France. I am not in sympathy with the Kremlin's convenience, but I have to oppose this meddling by a ludicrous gumshoe agent of the White House and the Garment Workers' Union because Brown, himself, is a (L.C.C.) Communist. The program which he is promoting would be just as Red as the Kremlin's version. There are many other secondary reasons for such opposition to this impudence now being waged under Ike's patronage, but that one is the most important.

Attlee recently said something which all honest Americans should endorse, when he said the constitution of the United States was "framed for an isolationist status." He was absolutely right, although "isolationism" as a political term, had not been heard of when the constitution was being wrought and adopted. By "isolationist status," Attlee clearly meant aloofness, moral independence and military sufficiency. Whoever doesn't like this should try to change the constitution, not distort or defy it.

The preamble of our constitution supports us, Attlee and me, where it says that we, the people, "in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity," established this constitution.

The letter and the whole spirit of that statement of intent precludes any desire to pose as a "leader" of the other nations, races and spheres of the earth and of mankind or to impose our vagaries, such as prohibition and our current inflammation against slot machines, on them. We wanted to form a more perfect union of these American states. (The implication that perfection can be improved on has been used as a teething ring by many precocious students and has served a useful purpose even by its imperfection).

One American, of lint-picking mind, has pointed out recently that there was a strong commitment against immigration and citizenship for immigrants in the phrase "ourselves and our posterity." He insisted that the founding fathers meant to "promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty" to those Americans who were then resident in our country and their lineal descendants.

This interpretation would exclude all but a small minority of us present-day native Americans from these benefits. The provision that Congress should have power to establish a uniform rule of nationalization seems to dispose of that narrowness but, on the other hand, it certainly answers those who have been howling that the United States, as a matter of right to them, owes admission to all persons or whatever disposition and however uncongenial to the

In this same article, he said:

". . . The staff of the Pepper Subcommittee on Wartime Health and Education was diligent in its efforts to take matters into its own hands, and probably did great harm to the cause of improved health in this country by its reckless activities."

It may be recalled that one of the principal effects of the La Follette Committee was to establish the Republic Steel Company strike in Chicago as the "Chicago Massacre." The reputation of Tom Girdler of Republic Steel was crushed into the mud. At that time, no organization rose to defend Girdler. No liberal newspapers asserted themselves in his support. He was smeared and abused and clergymen denounced him. Yet, here 16 years later, in a Senate investigation, we find that the man who investigated this "Chicago Massacre" for the La Follette Committee was none other than Charles Kramer, identified as a member of the Harold Ware Cell, now employed by the Communist Progressive Party—a man who pleads the Fifth Amendment whenever he is asked a pertinent question.

Note this colloquy:

"Mr. Morris. Did you participate in writing a subcommitte report on the so-called Chicago Massacre, in which the subcommittee charged the Chicago Police with 'excessive force and careless indifference to human life and suffering.'?

"Mr. Kramer. Yes; I participated in writing that report."

Kramer moved from the La Follette Committee to the National Labor Relations Board. His references for that position may have been Victor Perlo, who has been named as the head of a spy ring by various witnesses and who used the Fifth Amendment when asked pertinent questions, and Robert Wohlfort, Secretary of the La Follette Committee. (There is some conflict of testimony concerning this.) On this board also was Edwin S. Smith, who pled the Fifth Amendment under investigation and who now sells Soviet Russian photographs to American newspapers and magazines. Nathan Witt also worked in the NLRB.

Mr. Robert Morris, Jenner Committee counsel, asked Kramer:

"Were you and Nat Witt secret members of the Communist Party at that time?

"Mr. Kramer. I refuse to answer that question, sir, on the same grounds." (Fifth Amendment)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

FAT CAUSES SHORTNESS OF BREATH

In former days the average young or middle-aged man who found himself becoming too fat—most of the excess fat being about the abdomen—felt that the "only" way to remove this excess fat was by doing more physical work or taking more exercise.

Although this method was slow, because he found the exercise was giving him a big appetite, nevertheless in a matter of a few weeks or months he found that the ridges of his abdominal muscles were beginning to show and he was proud of his "washboard" abdomen. Then, by cutting down on his food intake, he felt he was "fit" again.

It so happens that many of our young and middle-aged men are not allowed to take vigorous exercise because of heart, blood pressure, etc., and so must reduce weight by cutting down on the food intake which, while making him lighter, does not make him stronger as does physical exercise in which he trades his fat tissue for muscle tissue. And, as mentioned before, with the accumulation of muscle tissue there is more desire to exercise and thus prevent accumulation of fat.

One of the results of accumulation of fat across the abdomen is getting out of breath early on even slight exertion.

In their book, "Endocrine Treatment in General Practice," Drs. Max A. Goldzieher and Joseph W. Goldzieher state that signs of heart embarrassment and breathlessness may result from massive abdominal and intra-abdominal (between the organs of the abdomen) fat. This pushes the diaphragm (floor of the chest and roof of abdomen) upward, displacing the heart; simultaneously, the filling of the right auricle (part of heart receiving the used blood to be sent to the lungs) is decreased, which means the purifying of the blood in the lungs is lessened.

By getting this excess fat on and in the abdomen removed by exercise or by cutting down on food intake or by both, there is the sensation of comfort and the disappearance of shortness of breath and other heart symptoms.

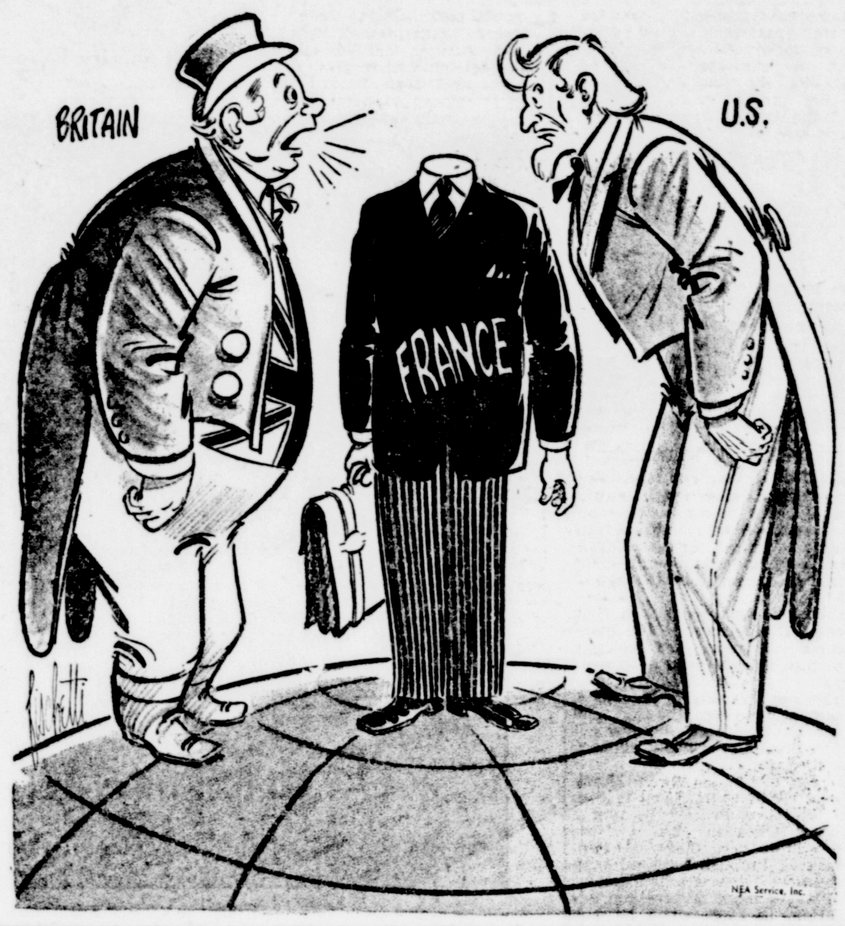

The simple exercise of "trying" to touch the toes, keeping the knees straight, in fact, any forward or sideways bending, keeping knees straight, will gradually develop the abdominal muscles so that the ridges or cross-bars of muscle will appear as fat disappears. About five minutes night and morning could not be better invested. Gladstone, the British statesman, who kept strong at an advanced age stated that all time and money spent in exercise paid a higher rate of interest than any other investment.

"We Request the Bermuda---er---Talks Be Delayed"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

Washington, (NEA) — While much attention has been paid to reviewing the accomplishments of President Eisenhower's first months in the White House, it is equally profitable now to take stock of Sen. Robert A. Taft's half of the administration. Mr. Republican has now been Senate majority leader for five months.

It is true that no later than April 9, Senator Taft told the Republican National Committee that President Eisenhower would be re-elected in 1956. Furthermore, after the Chicago convention last year, Senator Taft said that he had made his last bid for the White House.

Senator Taft is a year older than President Eisenhower. Taft will be 64 on Sept. 8. By election day, 1956, he would be 67. Only one President, William Henry Harrison, at 68, was older on inauguration day. And he died a month after taking office.

But — if President Eisenhower decided not to run in 1956—or if President Eisenhower tried to toss his torch to someone like Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, whom Taft Republicans hate—or if Senator Taft did not like the way the Eisenhower crowd had been running things—

Well, politicians, like women, claim a divine right to change their minds. And some of the people to whom the senator has been talking recently have come out of his office saying that he still had ideas about the White House and how it should be run.

Certainly, everything that Senator Taft has said and done in the five months since the Republicans took over has indicated that he has a program of his own—whether Eisenhower has or not. And Taft does not bother to clear his statements with the White House.

Press Meetings Air Taft's Views

President Eisenhower has a press conference only two or three times a month. Reporters on Capitol Hill see Senator Taft two or three times a day. Taft's ideas today are therefore better known than the President's, and there are more of them.

On domestic policies, Senator Taft has in general gone along with the Eisenhower leadership. This has caused many Washington observers to comment that the widely predicted split between the President and the senator simply isn't going to come off.

On foreign policy the harmony hasn't been so close. The most recent incident over the senator's speech on "let's go it alone" in Korea is only the latest of a long series of disagreements. It is on the basis of this record that there is justification for concluding an Eisenhower-Taft split over foreign policy will come eventually.

President Eisenhower is essentially a believer in international cooperation to overcome potential enemies and ensure peace in the world. Senator Taft clings to the idea of making the United States strong internally, basing American defense primarily on that, giving less aid and placing less reliance on foreign allies. Call this policy isolation if you will.

Thus far in the Eisenhower administration it would appear that the senator's point of view has prevailed more often than not.

Scored Before Inauguration

Senator Taft scored his first point even before inauguration. He got from President Eisenhower a promise that no U. S. commitments would be made to the British in talks with Prime Minister Churchill.

There were many misgivings when Senator Taft took a post on the Foreign Relations Committee. For nearly a month thereafter, the senator tipped no applecarts.

Then President Eisenhower sent to Congress the draft of a mild resolution against Russia's perversion of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements. Senator Taft thought it should be toughened up. He put through an amendment which in effect questioned the validity of those pacts. But instead of making an issue of it, which would have brought on an open Eisenhower-Taft break, the President's resolution was simply allowed to die. It was a Taft victory.

The evolution of Taft's Korean policy is interesting. On Feb. 9, in a radio interview, the senator declared the U. S. was already "at full war" with Communist China. He said a blockade of the China coast was desirable, if it could be worked out.

When Secretary of State John Foster Dulles went before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to soft-pedal such demands, Taft observed that much more aid could be given Asia by reducing the amount given to Europe.

On April 20, Taft expressed the hope that all the problems of Asia could be settled "at one bite"—meaning in one conference. Five weeks later he was to advocate that if truce negotiations in Korea fail, then we should let all our allies know we are withdrawing from all further negotiations. He has much support for this idea.

But that is where President Eisenhower had to say "No!"

Einstein Stand Shows His Lack of Knowledge of the American Constitution

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 15—Professor Albert Einstein's theory of "relativity" in mathematics may be difficult for the average person to understand but the advice he has just given to a New York schoolteacher to refuse to testify at all before an investigating committee of Congress is very easy to understand. It is a preachment that amounts to the encouragement of disobedience to constitutional authority.

Professor Einstein may be forgiven for his lack of knowledge of the American Constitution and the code of laws that govern his adopted land because he has come over from Europe only recently and probably has not become as familiar as he might be with either the rights or the duties of American citizens in connection with law enforcement.

For the right of a citizen to refuse to testify about himself before an investigating committee on the ground that to give such testimony would be self-incriminating is specified by the Constitution and has been repeatedly upheld by the Supreme Court. But there is no right to refuse to testify about other persons concerning whom the citizen may have knowledge even though it may bring prosecution to such persons because of the crimes they have committed or conspired to commit.

Crimes when committed usually do not have an official photographer present from the district attorney's office to obtain proof. Law enforcement can be assisted only through the cooperation of good citizens who are willing to testify as, for instance, by catching the numbers on the license plates of a hit and run driver who has killed a child. It is the same way with conspiracies to overthrow the government of the United States which according to court decisions is the avowed object of the Communist Party in the United States. Unfortunately the Moscow government doesn't furnish our government with an affidavit listing the names of their agents and helpers in the United States.

So it is important for every arm of the government to be used in a constitutional manner to elicit information to help prevent Communist conspiracies from being successful.

Professor Einstein's exact words are important to examine—he wrote as follows concerning the problem of responding to requests for information by investigating committees:

"Frankly, I can see only the revolutionary way of non-cooperation in the sense of Ghandi's. Every intellectual who is called before one of the committees ought to refuse to testify, that is he must be prepared for jail and economic ruin, in short, for the sacrifice of his personal welfare in the interest of the cultural welfare of his country.

"This refusal to testify must be based on the assertion that it is shameful for a blameless citizen to submit to such an inquisition and that this kind of inquisition violates the spirit of the Constitution."

But who is to decide whether the accused citizen is "blameless"—the citizen himself or the government to which under the Constitution there has been delegated a system of formal inquiry to be conducted by the legislative as well as the judicial branches? There is no legal protection whatsoever for the citizen who refuses to testify just because he doesn't like the views of the investigating committee or the personality of its members. A subpoena from an investigating committee can be as compelling as a subpoena from a court.

Professor Einstein says the investigating committees are composed of "reactionary politicians." He doesn't know that for generations past the investigating committee has been developed as the weapon of liberal reformers in America. One wonders what the liberals or "intellectuals" of yesterday would have said if some employer in big business had publicly advised all employers to refuse to testify before the famous Lafollette committee of the Senate not so many years ago which investigated espionage inside unions by employers and strong arm tactics allegedly used to break down unions or prevent their organization among employees.

"Methods" of committees of Congress are easy to criticize and often such methods are reprehensible but the highest courts in the land have put virtually no limit on the right of Congressional committees to elicit information and to comment thereon as they please with full immunity from prosecution. The Constitution of course could be amended by the people to repeal that right but it would be a sorry day for liberalism and the downtrodden or exploited minorities if that ever happened. The true liberals of today might well recall the legal opinion of a great liberal, the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes who said "freedom of speeeh is freedom for the thought we hate."

Comments by investigating committee members however irrelevant or distasteful or unjust are protected by the freedom of expression clause of the Constitution and by the freedom to gather information in order to legislate, which the Constitution gave to Congress as a concomitant right. The remedy against abuse is not to encourage the citizen to defy the provisions of the existing Constitution but to agitate for their modification or repeal and to crusade for the defeat at the polls of all members of Congress whose views are disliked by a majority of the voters of a district or a state.

It takes time to get all the facts understood when highly controversial issues are at stake but the people's true will in resolving those issues ultimately prevails. The place to encourage revolution and sedition is among the peoples behind the Iron Curtain who are up against despotic governments than menace the peace of the world.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I regard Clement Attlee, the Socialist who was prime minister of Great Britain, as a friend of communism not only because he threw a Communist salute of the clenched fist to a British unit in the Spanish Communist army, but because his legislative program and political aims during his reign both pointed toward total Marxism.

However, I find it necessary sometimes to agree even with Communists. This is not embarrassing because there are times when the truth happens to serve their purposes. In such cases, it would be foolish of an honest man to let them chase him off a truth for fear of having to share it temporarily with persons who are repulsive to him.

I found an example of this in my agreement with the Muscovite Communists in Paris that President Eisenhower's friend and sub rosa political agent, Irving Brown, of the Dave Dubinsky political apparatus in Europe, has no right to meddle in French domestic politics, even to haras and frustrate the Kremlin's agents in France. This illegal interference by this synthetic hero of hypothetical barricades is inconvenient to the Soviet purpose in France. I am not in sympathy with the Kremlin's convenience, but I have to oppose this meddling by a ludicrous gumshoe agent of the White House and the Garment Workers' Union because Brown, himself, is a (L.C.C.) Communist. The program which he is promoting would be just as Red as the Kremlin's version. There are many other secondary reasons for such opposition to this impudence now being waged under Ike's patronage, but that one is the most important.

Attlee recently said something which all honest Americans should endorse, when he said the constitution of the United States was "framed for an isolationist status." He was absolutely right, although "isolationism" as a political term, had not been heard of when the constitution was being wrought and adopted. By "isolationist status," Attlee clearly meant aloofness, moral independence and military sufficiency. Whoever doesn't like this should try to change the constitution, not distort or defy it.

The preamble of our constitution supports us, Attlee and me, where it says that we, the people, "in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity," established this constitution.

The letter and the whole spirit of that statement of intent precludes any desire to pose as a "leader" of the other nations, races and spheres of the earth and of mankind or to impose our vagaries, such as prohibition and our current inflammation against slot machines, on them. We wanted to form a more perfect union of these American states. (The implication that perfection can be improved on has been used as a teething ring by many precocious students and has served a useful purpose even by its imperfection).

One American, of lint-picking mind, has pointed out recently that there was a strong commitment against immigration and citizenship for immigrants in the phrase "ourselves and our posterity." He insisted that the founding fathers meant to "promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty" to those Americans who were then resident in our country and their lineal descendants.

This interpretation would exclude all but a small minority of us present-day native Americans from these benefits. The provision that Congress should have power to establish a uniform rule of nationalization seems to dispose of that narrowness but, on the other hand, it certainly answers those who have been howling that the United States, as a matter of right to them, owes admission to all persons or whatever disposition and however uncongenial to the

Rosenbergs in Review

(Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, man and wife, are in the Death House at Sing Sing Prison. Next Thursday night, unless they can win another of many stays, they will be electrocuted. The great conspiracy case that led to their downfall and the long and heated legal battle to save their lives is told in a three-part series by Arthur Everett, who has been reporting it for this newspaper since the beginning. Everett, also assigned to report the final chapter—the execution—tells of the chase and capture of the spies involved in this first article.)

By ARTHUR EVERETT

New York, June 15 (AP)—On a cold winter's day three years ago last February, Scotland Yard Inspector Leonart Burt dropped his hand on the shoulder of a German-born scientist at work in Great Britain's atomic laboratory.

The scientist was Dr. Klaus Fuchs, a brilliant, balding expert who had been present at the birth of the first atomic bomb in New Mexico in 1945.

Was First Step

His arrest that Feb. 3, 1950, was the first step in cracking a treacherous international atomic spy conspiracy, that numbered among its plotters Julius Rosenberg and his tiny, 100-pound wife, Ethel.

Never were the stakes as high in mankind's history as in the cat and mouse drama to follow. In the background of the ensuing three years of pursuit, arrest, trial and appeal was the atom bomb, never heard and never seen except through the imagery of its awesome, mushroom fury at Hiroshima, Nagasaki, Bikini and Yucca Flat.

Fuchs, now 41, confessed his part in the spy plot. He had been a Soviet agent since 1939. He was a Soviet agent when he helped American scientists produce the first A-bomb, a Soviet agent privy to the greatest military secret of all time. He now is serving 14 years in prison, the maximum under British law.

Led to Gold

From Fuchs, the trail of conspiracy led the American FBI to Harry Gold, a mousy, little Swiss-born chemist in Philadelphia. A parlor pink, dabbling in small-time espionage for years, he had hit the jack-pot in 1945 when he was able to deliver to Russia the dreadfully potent secret of atomic destruction.

Gold was arrested May 23, 1950, pleaded guilty and now is serving 30 years. He cooperated with the government and through him FBI men were able to proceed along the trail of the conspiracy.

Three weeks later came the arrest of David Greenglass, a short, wavy-haired $75 a week machinist. He was picked up in New York. Greenglass was a wartime army sergeant at Los Alamos, N. M., where the world's first A-bomb was produced—under the prying eye of Dr. Fuchs.

Was Born 31 Years Ago

Greenglass, born 31 years ago in New York's lower east side of a Russian father, found himself in a tight spot. His life was at stake if he was convicted of passing atomic secrets to Russia. And his wife, Ruth, the mother of his two children, was mixed up with him in the plot.

So Greenglass eventually talked.

Meanwhile, the Korean war exploded on June 25, 1950 as government agents questioned and requestioned the thick set Greenglass.

In this supercharged atmosphere, on July 17, 1950, FBI agents arrested Julius Rosenberg, the brother-in-law of Greenglass. Now 35, the thin, bespectacled mustached college graduate married Greenglass' sister, Ethel, on June 18, 1939. She bore him two sons, Michael, now 10, and Robert, 6.

Maintained Innocence

By Aug. 1, the government was able to report it was "getting more information every hour." That information was not coming from Rosenberg, however, as he maintained his innocence and offered no cooperation.

It was on Aug. 11 that the FBI struck again. They seized Mrs. Rosenberg in her modest $51 a month apartment in New York's Knickerbocker Village, far downtown. A stenographer turned housewife, she, like her husband and her brother, was a product of Manhattan's tenement area. She is now 37.

The significance the government attached to these arrests was first revealed by Myles J. Lane, then an assistant U. S. attorney. He said at Mrs. Rosenberg's arraignment:

"If the crime with which she is charged had not occurred, perhaps we would not have had the present situation in Korea."

Rosenbergs Accused

The crime alleged was as fascinating in a cloak-and-dagger way as anything ever dreamed up in fiction. The Rosenbergs were accused of transmitting military secrets to Soviet Russia themselves and through Greenglass, who was pictured as a hero-worshipper of his brother-in-law and a pliable tool in the older man's hands.

Gold, it was alleged, picked up A-bomb secrets from Fuchs and Greenglass at Los Alamos. He identified himself to Greenglass with a torn piece of a jello box top. It matched the other half in Greenglass' possession. Greenglass said his half was given to him for just that reason by the Rosenbergs.

Informed of these allegations, Rosenberg reportedly "laughed out loud."

Bloch Enters Picture

Emanuel H. Bloch, a Manhattan attorney who was to devote days and months and years to Rosenberg's case, entered the picture at this point as his defense counsel and told reporters of the jello top plot:

"He called it fantastic—something like his kids hear over television on the Lone Ranger program."

Bloch, 52, is a stock Columbia University law graduate.

On Aug. 17, 1950, the government indicated Anatoli Yakovlev, former Russian vice consul in New York. But it was like indicting a shadow. He had slipped back to Russia in 1946 and there was no way the government could lay hands on him.

Yakovlev was depicted as the sinister link, holding together such diversified plotters as the urbane Fuchs, the rabbity Gold, the putty-like Greenglass and the bold, snickering Rosenbergs.

Provided Checks

The government said Yakovlev provided the $500 which Greenglass admitted accepting as the price of his treachery.

On Aug. 18, 1950, the government arrested the last of the star players in this macabre betrayal. He was Morton Sobell, 36, who had fled to Mexico before the Rosenbergs were arrested. But he was deported and American agents were waiting for him at the border town of Laredo, Tex.

Sobell, an electrical engineer, had served the navy as a wartime radar expert. A native New Yorker, his parents came from Russia. He and Rosenberg were classmates at the City College of New York. He had a wife and two small children. A man who worked with him classified him as "a genius type."

Sobell, it was charged, took part with the Rosenbergs in the plot to pervert Greenglass and to furnish secrets to Soviet Russia. The Rosenbergs and Sobell pleaded innocent to the conspiracy charges.

Greenglass Pleads Guilty

But on Oct. 18, 1950, David Greenglass, with bowed head, pleaded guilty and prepared for the difficult role that doomed his sister and her husband. By so doing, Greenglass possibly saved his own life.

All four—the Rosenbergs, Sobell and Greenglass — were charged under a 1917 statute with "conspiring in time of war to transmit to the Soviet Union information concerning the national defense of this country."

The conspiracy was said to have extended from June 6, 1944, to June 16, 1950—which included the tag end of World War 2, when Russia was an ally in the fight against Germany. Nevertheless, such a conspiracy in time of war, even in behalf of an ally, carried a maximum penalty of 30 years in prison or death. In time of peace, the maximum penalty was 20 years.

Not Named Defendant

Ruth Greenglass, 29, was named not a defendant but a co-conspirator, the government counting on her cooperation and that of her husband at the trial. Also a co-conspirator was Harry Gold, who in December, 1950, was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Thus began the grimly historic case the Communist Party later was to label an American Dreyfus case.

The reference was to Alfred Dreyfus, a French officer convicted as a traitor in the past century and sent to Devil's Island. Dreyfus cleared his name eventually and was restored to army duty.

Most of the evidence against the Rosenbergs was circumstantial. They have maintained their innocence throughout.

Tomorrow: The Rosenberg trial.

a great day for Poughkeepsie

High over the Hudson chugged a tiny locomotive with one wooden coach. Crowds cheered. The river was bridged at last. The eastern side of the Hudson had a direct rail link with the growing West.

Soon after the great railroad bridge was completed, another forward step in transportation was taken at Poughkeepsie. This time it was vertical transportation, sparked by the foresight of Alonzo Sedgwick who had the vision to build for a day when better living and working conditions would make it seem burdensome to climb stairs or to carry loads from floor to floor.

So the Sedgwick Machine Works became part of the life of Poughkeepsie sixty years ago. Since then, Sedgwick has carried the name of Poughkeepsie all over the world and given profitable employment to many in the Hudson Valley.

Workers in this area find Sedgwick a pleasant and friendly place to earn a living. This is a local plant run by local people. Management and workers have a neighborly attitude toward one another.

Men like to help us build modern equipment for vertical transportation. There are such a variety of products and so many different kinds of jobs to be done that there is none of the monotony usually found under the high-speed methods of a straight-line production plant.

Many Sedgwick workers stay on for generations. Fathers bring their sons to work here and every worker likes the feeling of close, friendly contact with the people in the front office who appreciate their efforts. This is still a Sedgwick plant, run by a direct descendant of Alonzo Sedgwick, the original founder.

Rosenbergs in Review

(Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, man and wife, are in the Death House at Sing Sing Prison. Next Thursday night, unless they can win another of many stays, they will be electrocuted. The great conspiracy case that led to their downfall and the long and heated legal battle to save their lives is told in a three-part series by Arthur Everett, who has been reporting it for this newspaper since the beginning. Everett, also assigned to report the final chapter—the execution—tells of the chase and capture of the spies involved in this first article.)

By ARTHUR EVERETT

New York, June 15 (AP)—On a cold winter's day three years ago last February, Scotland Yard Inspector Leonart Burt dropped his hand on the shoulder of a German-born scientist at work in Great Britain's atomic laboratory.

The scientist was Dr. Klaus Fuchs, a brilliant, balding expert who had been present at the birth of the first atomic bomb in New Mexico in 1945.

Was First Step

His arrest that Feb. 3, 1950, was the first step in cracking a treacherous international atomic spy conspiracy, that numbered among its plotters Julius Rosenberg and his tiny, 100-pound wife, Ethel.

Never were the stakes as high in mankind's history as in the cat and mouse drama to follow. In the background of the ensuing three years of pursuit, arrest, trial and appeal was the atom bomb, never heard and never seen except through the imagery of its awesome, mushroom fury at Hiroshima, Nagasaki, Bikini and Yucca Flat.

Fuchs, now 41, confessed his part in the spy plot. He had been a Soviet agent since 1939. He was a Soviet agent when he helped American scientists produce the first A-bomb, a Soviet agent privy to the greatest military secret of all time. He now is serving 14 years in prison, the maximum under British law.

Let to Gold

From Fuchs, the trail of conspiracy led the American FBI to Harry Gold, a mousy, little Swiss-born chemist in Philadelphia. A parlor pink, dabbling in small-time espionage for years, he had hit the jack-pot in 1945 when he was able to deliver to Russia the dreadfully potent secret of atomic destruction.

Gold was arrested May 23, 1950, pleaded guilty and now is serving 30 years. He cooperated with the government and through him FBI men were able to proceed along the trail of the conspiracy.

Three weeks later came the arrest of David Greenglass, a short, wavy-haired $75 a week machinist. He was picked up in New York. Greenglass was a wartime army sergeant at Los Alamos, N. M., where the world's first A-bomb was produced—under the prying eye of Dr. Fuchs.

Was Born 31 Years Ago

Greenglass, born 31 years ago in New York's lower east side of a Russian father, found himself in a tight spot. His life was at stake if he was convicted of passing atomic secrets to Russia. And his wife, Ruth, the mother of his two children, was mixed up with him in the plot.

So Greenglass eventually talked.

Meanwhile, the Korean war exploded on June 25, 1950 as government agents questioned and requestioned the thick set Greenglass.

In this supercharged atmosphere, on July 17, 1950, FBI agents arrested Julius Rosenberg, the brother-in-law of Greenglass. Now 35, the thin, bespectacled mustached college graduate married Greenglass' sister, Ethel, on June 18, 1939. She bore him two sons, Michael, now 10, and Robert, 6.

Maintained Innocence

By Aug. 1, the government was able to report it was "getting more information every hour." That information was not coming from Rosenberg, however, as he maintained his innocence and offered no cooperation.

It was on Aug. 11 that the FBI struck again. They seized Mrs. Rosenberg in her modest $51 a month apartment in New York's Knickerbocker Village, far downtown. A stenographer turned housewife, she, like her husband and her brother, was a product of Manhattan's tenement area. She is now 37.

The significance the government attached to these arrests was first revealed by Myles J. Lane, then an assistant U. S. attorney. He said at Mrs. Rosenberg's arraignment:

"If the crime with which she is charged had not occurred, perhaps we would not have had the present situation in Korea."

Rosenbergs Accused

The crime alleged was as fascinating in a cloak-and-dagger way as anything ever dreamed up in fiction. The Rosenbergs were accused of transmitting military secrets to Soviet Russia themselves and through Greenglass, who was pictured as a hero-worshipper of his brother-in-law and a pliable tool in the older man's hands.

Gold, it was alleged, picked up A-bomb secrets from Fuchs and Greenglass at Los Alamos. He identified himself to Greenglass with a torn piece of a jello box top. It matched the other half in Greenglass' possession. Greenglass said his half was given to him for just that reason by the Rosenbergs.

Informed of these allegations, Rosenberg reportedly "laughed out loud."

Bloch Enters Picture

Emanuel H. Bloch, a Manhattan attorney who was to devote days and months and years to Rosenberg's case, entered the picture at this point as his defense counsel and told reporters of the jello top plot:

"He called it fantastic—something like his kids hear over television on the Lone Ranger program."

Bloch, 52, is a stock Columbia University law graduate.

On Aug. 17, 1950, the government indicated Anatoli Yakovlev, former Russian vice consul in New York. But it was like indicting a shadow. He had slipped back to Russia in 1946 and there was no way the government could lay hands on him.

Yakovlev was depicted as the sinister link, holding together such diversified plotters as the urbane Fuchs, the rabbity Gold, the putty-like Greenglass and the bold, snickering Rosenbergs.

Provided Checks

The government said Yakovlev provided the $500 which Greenglass admitted accepting as the price of his treachery.

On Aug. 18, 1950, the government arrested the last of the star players in this macabre betrayal. He was Morton Sobell, 36, who had fled to Mexico before the Rosenbergs were arrested. But he was deported and American agents were waiting for him at the border town of Laredo, Tex.

Sobell, an electrical engineer, had served the navy as a wartime radar expert. A native New Yorker, his parents came from Russia. He and Rosenberg were classmates at the City College of New York. He had a wife and two small children. A man who worked with him classified him as "a genius type."

Sobell, it was charged, took part with the Rosenbergs in the plot to pervert Greenglass and to furnish secrets to Soviet Russia. The Rosenbergs and Sobell pleaded innocent to the conspiracy charges.

Greenglass Pleads Guilty

But on Oct. 18, 1950, David Greenglass, with bowed head, pleaded guilty and prepared for the difficult role that doomed his sister and her husband. By so doing, Greenglass possibly saved his own life.

All four—the Rosenbergs, Sobell and Greenglass — were charged under a 1917 statute with "conspiring in time of war to transmit to the Soviet Union information concerning the national defense of this country."

The conspiracy was said to have extended from June 6, 1944, to June 16, 1950—which included the tag end of World War 2, when Russia was an ally in the fight against Germany. Nevertheless, such a conspiracy in time of war, even in behalf of an ally, carried a maximum penalty of 30 years in prison or death. In time of peace, the maximum penalty was 20 years.

Not Named Defendant

Ruth Greenglass, 29, was named not a defendant but a co-conspirator, the government counting on her cooperation and that of her husband at the trial. Also a co-conspirator was Harry Gold, who in December, 1950, was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Thus began the grimly historic case the Communist Party later was to label an American Dreyfus case.

The reference was to Alfred Dreyfus, a French officer convicted as a traitor in the past century and sent to Devil's Island. Dreyfus cleared his name eventually and was restored to army duty.

Most of the evidence against the Rosenbergs was circumstantial. They have maintained their innocence throughout.

Tomorrow: The Rosenberg trial.

a great day for Poughkeepsie

High over the Hudson chugged a tiny locomotive with one wooden coach. Crowds cheered. The river was bridged at last. The eastern side of the Hudson had a direct rail link with the growing West.

Soon after the great railroad bridge was completed, another forward step in transportation was taken at Poughkeepsie. This time it was vertical transportation, sparked by the foresight of Alonzo Sedgwick who had the vision to build for a day when better living and working conditions would make it seem burdensome to climb stairs or to carry loads from floor to floor.

So the Sedgwick Machine Works became part of the life of Poughkeepsie sixty years ago. Since then, Sedgwick has carried the name of Poughkeepsie all over the world and given profitable employment to many in the Hudson Valley.

Workers in this area find Sedgwick a pleasant and friendly place to earn a living. This is a local plant run by local people. Management and workers have a neighborly attitude toward one another.

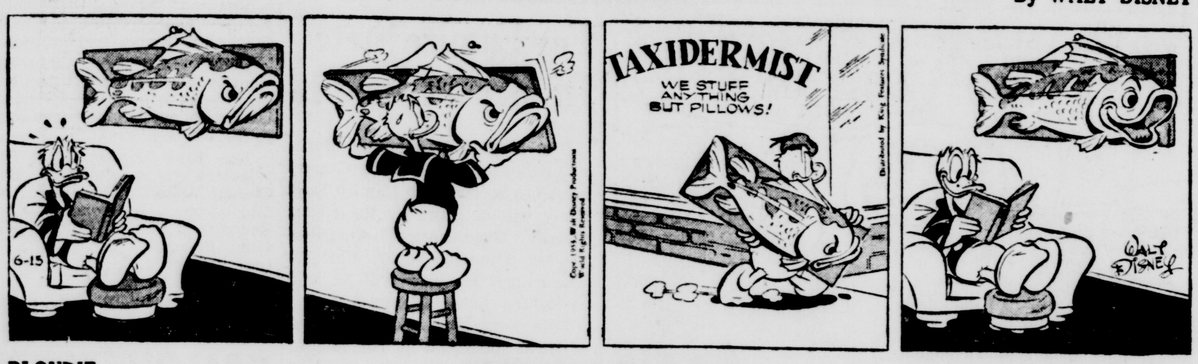

Men like to help us build modern equipment for vertical transportation. There are such a variety of products and so many different kinds of jobs to be done that there is none of the monotony usually found under the high-speed methods of a straight-line production plant.

Many Sedgwick workers stay on for generations. Fathers bring their sons to work here and every worker likes the feeling of close, friendly contact with the people in the front office who appreciate their efforts. This is still a Sedgwick plant, run by a direct descendant of Alonzo Sedgwick, the original founder.

Sure, Let 'Em Vote

By FRANK TRIPP

Should an American vote at 18? Wouldn't it be nice if the question could qualify, "—what American?" But that wouldn't be American. We are a packaged nation that must accept the hulls with the kernels—and age hasn't a lot to do with it.

Invariably those who discuss this moot question hinge their opinion on their own lives. They review their years from 18 to 21, and recall countless deeds and responsibilities of those three years that transcend the responsibility of the ballot.

Plenty of them were supporting themselves those years; many were supporting or helping to support their parents; many working their way through school.

Yet there also were many who were as irresponsible as babes, and continued thus throughout their lives, still cast their ballot because they had passed 21.

"THE YEARS of discretion," are what? A moron can vote; a Joel Koopman can't. A native born illiterate can vote; a naturalized citizen must know his letters, not merely be exposed to instruction.

We go all out for education. We want everybody to know everything, which is swell, up to the individual's capacity. In the process we spoil useful ditch diggers with unusable knowledge. We are breeding too many chiefs—not enough Injuns.

Yet we put only age on the price tag on the most precious and vital privilege an American can acquire—his citizenship. At 21 he's a voter just as automatically as at 80 he's an octogenarian. Maybe he's so dumb that he thinks George Washington invented coffee.

That is as it must be in true democracy, else the peers or intelligentsia could tyranically disfranchise large groups of people. Our founding fathers had that in mind when they made the requirement something that is common to all humans, their age.

THEY WERE thinking also of the voter's ability to discriminate, through acquired knowledge of this new country and its government. All processes were slow and backward then.

We have seen the opportunity for education and means of communicating knowledge increase four-fold in two generations. We have seen youngsters leaving college who once would still have been in grade school. Back of me in grammar school sat a voter; only 60 years ago. It was a precocious kid who finished high school earlier than 18.

So it was assumed by our forefathers that by the time a lad was 21 he would have enough schooling to know what it was all about. Today he has had far more instruction at age 16; at least had the opportunity.

PROBABLY it would rouse a hue and cry if a native born American should be required to give evidence that he had exposed himself to economic instruction before he could vote; that he had attended school.

The alien must give proof that he has absorbed such instruction. This couldn't be required of the native, else we'd risk class control of the electorate. But couldn't we require evidence of exposure, and where absent create classes to provide it as we do with aliens?

We can't make the horse drink, but we can lead him to the water — and why shouldn't we? Shouldn't a native be exposed to as much knowledge of his country as is the alien?

SOME SORT of knowledge of the tenets of a church or a fraternity, the requirements of a job, fitness to marry, drive a car, and what not, is demanded. The power to create these restrictions, the vote, is automatically extended, without question, to anybody reaching 21; but denied far better qualified voters at 18.

What does age matter if judgment exists? And who is stubborn enough to contend that public knowledge of affairs today isn't an easy three years ahead of 1776?

Both sexes may marry, have a family and pay taxes before they can vote. Males can be drafted, shot at, even killed; be yanked away from home and opportunity, their whole future altered, maybe ruined.

But they can't have a voice in the government which rules their lives until they're 21.

It doesn't make sense.

Showing Hand Violates Ethics

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"I have a peculiar problem for you," writes a Pittsburgh correspondent. "The discard pile was frozen. My opponent asked his partner why she didn't make a canasta so that she could go out.

"To prove his point, he exposed his hand, which consisted of three kings. At her next turn his partner placed a meld of kings on the table, and out he went.

"It seems to us that there should be a penalty for playing this way, but we can find nothing in the rules that covers this. What should be done-"

This is both an easy and a difficult question to answer. There is no real penalty for this sort of shenanigans, because it is an offense against the ethics of the game rather than against the laws.

Every canasta player in the world knows that he is not supposed to show his hand to his partner. Even the most inexperienced canasta player knows that he is supposed neither to tell his partner what to do nor to show his hand in order to indicate his wishes.

What sort of player would deliberately do what he knows to be wrong? Either a player who cares nothing about rules or a player who is so hopping mad that he cannot think straight at the moment.

This is an easy problem to solve if your player just doesn't care about rules and is determined to break them when it suits his purpose. You read him the riot act and warn him that you simply won't play cards with him unless he mends his ways. You might even have to carry out this threat.

If the player was so exasperated that he completely lost his head, you have a difficult problem to solve. The laws of the game do not give an adequate penalty for this particular offense. (According to the laws, the defender's cards are exposed, and he must either meld them or discard them at his succeeding turns to play. Since the offender is delighted to meld them at his next turn, this is no penalty at all).

When a player loses his temper he should be willing to apologize and to make amends. This is the general practice among noncard players as well as among card players. In other words, you have a problem in behavior and human relations, not a problem in the laws of canasta.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Library Officers Named for Year

Woodstock, June 15—Nine trustees were elected at the annual library meeting held at the Town Hall Thursday night, which was attended by a record number of 278 members. The following were chosen by an overwhelming majority vote: George Compton, Alf Evers, Mrs. Hans J. Cohn, Mrs. William Shirey, Mrs. Dudley G. Summers, Lewis R. Wilson, William Stifler, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker and Mrs. George Laws.

At a trustees' meeting, following the general membership meeting, the following new officers of the library for the coming year were elected: Mrs. Herman Oxhandler, president; Mrs. George Laws, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, secretary; Herbert G. Wyman, treasurer; William Stifler, finance chairman; Mrs. William Shirey, book committee; and Mrs. Frances Rogers, administration chairman.

Richards Rules Out Bid

The general membership meeting, which was marked by a considerable amount of lengthy and at times heated discussion, was conducted by Houston Richards, retiring president. The question of a pension fund for Mrs. Alice Thompson, librarian, who retires as of January 1, 1954, was introduced. A resolution was presented by Sidney Berkowitz proposing a pension plan to be paid for out of library funds. However, since the proposal was not in accordance with the rules of the Division of Library Extension of the State Education Department, the resolution was ruled out of order by Richards, whose decision was sustained by a majority vote of the members.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Summers, and the treasurer's report by Wyman. Miss Frances Rogers gave a report on administration. Mrs. Shirey described the year's activities of the book committee, stating that many new books are available to members and that old books are being discarded where necessary. She thanked several members for their generous contributions of books to the library.

Miss Anita Smith, membership chairman, reported that there are now 645 members of the library who were eligible to vote at meetings.

During the past year, Richards announced, a total of 26,081 books had been circulated by the Woodstock Library.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

Sure, Let 'Em Vote

By FRANK TRIPP

Should an American vote at 18? Wouldn't it be nice if the question could qualify, "—what American?" But that wouldn't be American. We are a packaged nation that must accept the hulls with the kernels—and age hasn't a lot to do with it.

Invariably those who discuss this moot question hinge their opinion on their own lives. They review their years from 18 to 21, and recall countless deeds and responsibilities of those three years that transcend the responsibility of the ballot.

Plenty of them were supporting themselves those years; many were supporting or helping to support their parents; many working their way through school.

Yet there also were many who were as irresponsible as babes, and continued thus throughout their lives, still cast their ballot because they had passed 21.

"THE YEARS of discretion," are what? A moron can vote; a Joel Kotperman can't. A native born illiterate can vote; a naturalized citizen must know his letters, not merely be exposed to instruction.

We go all out for education. We want everybody to know everything, which is swell, up to the individual's capacity. In the process we spoil useful ditch diggers with unusable knowledge. We are breeding too many chiefs—not enough Injuns.

Yet we put only age on the price tag on the most precious and vital privilege an American can acquire—his citizenship. At 21 he's a voter just as automatically as at 80 he's an octogenarian. Maybe he's so dumb that he thinks George Washington invented coffee.

That is as it must be in true democracy, else the peers or intelligentsia could tyranically disfranchise large groups of people. Our founding fathers had that in mind when they made the requirement something that is common to all humans, their age.

THEY WERE thinking also of the voter's ability to discriminate, through acquired knowledge of this new country and its government. All processes were slow and backward then.

We have seen the opportunity for education and means of communicating knowledge increase four-fold in two generations. We have seen youngsters leaving college who once would still have been in grade school. Back of me in grammar school sat a voter; only 60 years ago. It was a precocious kid who finished high school earlier than 18.

So it was assumed by our forefathers that by the time a lad was 21 he would have enough schooling to know what it was all about. Today he has had far more instruction at age 16; at least had the opportunity.

PROBABLY it would rouse a hue and cry if a native born American should be required to give evidence that he had exposed himself to economic instruction before he could vote; that he had attended school.

The alien must give proof that he has absorbed such instruction. This couldn't be required of the native, else we'd risk class control of the electorate. But couldn't we require evidence of exposure, and where absent create classes to provide it as we do with aliens?

We can't make the horse drink, but we can lead him to the water — and why shouldn't we? Shouldn't a native be exposed to as much knowledge of his country as is the alien?

SOME SORT of knowledge of the tenets of a church or a fraternity, the requirements of a job, fitness to marry, drive a car, and what not, is demanded. The power to create these restrictions, the vote, is automatically extended, without question, to anybody reaching 21; but denied far better qualified voters at 18.

What does age matter if judgment exists? And who is stubborn enough to contend that public knowledge of affairs today isn't an easy three years ahead of 1776?

Both sexes may marry, have a family and pay taxes before they can vote. Males can be drafted, shot at, even killed; be yanked away from home and opportunity, their whole future altered, maybe ruined.

But they can't have a voice in the government which rules their lives until they're 21.

It doesn't make sense.

(According to the laws, the defender's cards are exposed, and he must either meld them or discard them at his succeeding turns to play. Since the offender is delighted to meld them at his next turn, this is no penalty at all).

When a player loses his temper he should be willing to apologize and to make amends. This is the general practice among noncard players as well as among card players. In other words, you have a problem in behavior and human relations, not a problem in the laws of canasta.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Library Officers Named for Year

Woodstock, June 15—Nine trustees were elected at the annual library meeting held at the Town Hall Thursday night, which was attended by a record number of 278 members. The following were chosen by an overwhelming majority vote: George Compton, Alf Evers, Mrs. Hans J. Cohn, Mrs. William Shirey, Mrs. Dudley G. Summers, Lewis R. Wilson, William Stifler, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker and Mrs. George Laws.

At a trustees' meeting, following the general membership meeting, the following new officers of the library for the coming year were elected: Mrs. Herman Oxhandler, president; Mrs. George Laws, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, secretary; Herbert G. Wyman, treasurer; William Stifler, finance chairman; Mrs. William Shirey, book committee; and Mrs. Frances Rogers, administration chairman.

Richards Rules Out Bid

The general membership meeting, which was marked by a considerable amount of lengthy and at times heated discussion, was conducted by Houston Richards, retiring president. The question of a pension fund for Mrs. Alice Thompson, librarian, who retires as of January 1, 1954, was introduced. A resolution was presented by Sidney Berkowitz proposing a pension plan to be paid for out of library funds. However, since the proposal was not in accordance with the rules of the Division of Library Extension of the State Education Department, the resolution was ruled out of order by Richards, whose decision was sustained by a majority vote of the members.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Summers, and the treasurer's report by Wyman. Miss Frances Rogers gave a report on administration. Mrs. Shirey described the year's activities of the book committee, stating that many new books are available to members and that old books are being discarded where necessary. She thanked several members for their generous contributions of books to the library.

Miss Anita Smith, membership chairman, reported that there are now 645 members of the library who were eligible to vote at meetings.

During the past year, Richards announced, a total of 26,081 books had been circulated by the Woodstock Library.

Discussion took place on plans for the annual fair to be held Wednesday, July 22, at the Wittenberg Church Hall at 2 p. m. A supper will be served at 5:30 p. m.

It was announced that the WSCS will sponsor the sending of one young person to an upstate youth camp this summer. Further details on the project will be announced later.

Home Bureau Installs Two New Officers

Woodstock, June 15—Two new officers were installed at the final meeting of the Woodstock unit of the Home Bureau Tuesday afternoon in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. Vera Ratkay Demarra, the guest of Miss Therese Kessel, and an accomplished concert pianist from Peru, climaxed the meeting by playing three selections.

A dessert luncheon was served before the business meeting which was attended by about 45 members and five guests.

Woodstock, June 15—A special meeting of the fireworks committee of the American Legion Post 1026 was held at the Legion Hall Thursday night. The following members were appointed to serve on the committee which will plan the large fireworks display for the July 4 weekend: Benjamin Buley, chairman; Wayne Underhill, William Melville, Albert Nussbaum, Robert Nussbaum, Lester Avery, Paul Joyce, Joseph Friedberg, George Hauser, Lynn Covert.

The fireworks will be held at the Dixon field behind the Gulf service station on the Bearsville road, at 8 p. m.

Serving on the refreshment committee are William Melville, Wayne Underhill, Lynn Covert, Benjamin Buley, George Hauser and Everett Cashdollar.

The parking committee will be headed by John Peper and Lester Avery, assisted by Harry Grazier.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

UNEXPECTED LATE EVENING VISITORS

A reader tells me: "When I am not expecting company, I usually take a shower about nine o'clock and put on a negligee and sit around watching television, or reading, until it is time to go to bed. The negligee to which I refer is perfectly proper in every respect—yards of material with high neck and long sleeves—but still very feminine. It has happened that on several occasions, unexpected friends have dropped in to see us. My husband thinks that it is very bad taste to entertain friends dressed in this manner, and that I should excuse myself and change into street close. Will you please give your opinion?"

Having greeted your visitors in your negligee, it would be very conspicuous should you leave the room and come back completely redressed in street clothes. And if, as you imply, your negligee can more properly be considered a tea gown rather than a wrapper, it would be entirely correct to remain dressed as you are.

Dresses for Girl Ushers

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please give your opinion of young girls who are to act as ushers at a Baccalaureate service, wearing evening dresses? After all, it is the worship service of commencement week and why should evening dresses be worn any more than to an evening church service? I say they are not suitable and very much out of place. Am I right, or just old-fashioned?

Answer: If by evening dress you mean a low-necked, sleeveless dress, I think you are definitely right. If you mean a dress that has a long skirt but it very slightly cut out at the neck and has short sleeves, it is perfectly proper.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

(Author of Etiquette, 'Children Are People, etc.)

UNEXPECTED LATE EVENING VISITORS

A reader tells me: "When I am not expecting company, I usually take a shower about nine o'clock and put on a negligee and sit around watching television, or reading, until it is time to go to bed. The negligee to which I refer is perfectly proper in every respect—yards of material with high neck and long sleeves—but still very feminine. It has happened that on several occasions, unexpected friends have dropped in to see us. My husband thinks that it is very bad taste to entertain friends dressed in this manner, and that I should excuse myself and change into street close. Will you please give your opinion?"

Having greeted your visitors in your negligee, it would be very conspicuous should you leave the room and come back completely redressed in street clothes. And if, as you imply, your negligee can more properly be considered a tea gown rather than a wrapper, it would be entirely correct to remain dressed as you are.

Dresses for Girl Ushers

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please give your opinion of young girls who are to act as ushers at a Baccalaureate service, wearing evening dresses? After all, it is the worship service of commencement week and why should evening dresses be worn any more than to an evening church service? I say they are not suitable and very much out of place. Am I right, or just old-fashioned?

Answer: If by evening dress you mean a low-necked, sleeveless dress, I think you are definitely right. If you mean a dress that has a long skirt but it very slightly cut out at the neck and has short sleeves, it is perfectly proper.

Moose, Elks Lodges Mark Flag Day With Special Ceremonies

Ceremonies were held Sunday, commemorating Flag Day by two local fraternal organizations, Kingston Lodge of Moose, 970, and Kingston Lodge 550, BPO Elks. Both programs were well attended.

Patriotic addresses were delivered at the lodge rooms of both organizations, at the Moose by Attorney Sherwood E. Davis, and at the Elks by Attorney Hubert A. Richter. Both speakers, veterans of World War 2, stressed the glorious history of the Flag, its meaning as a symbol of freedom, liberty and democracy, and the need for eternal vigilance to preserve everything the Flag represents.

The Moose held its program in the afternoon, including a Flag presentation on the lawn in front of the former Coykendall estate, where members of the 156th Field Artillery took part in the ceremony, also the degree team from Gloversville Lodge of Moose.

Governor Welcomes

The welcome was given by Governor John L. Slizewski of Kingston Moose Lodge, and Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly was master of ceremonies. There was entertainment by pupils of the Cashin School of Dancing and refreshments. Joseph Meyers was general chairman of the event.

The Elks held their program honoring the Flag in the evening. Mrs. Charles Benton sang the National Anthem, and America the Beautiful. Harold H. Baltz recited the history of the Flag, previous to the address by Attorney Richter, commander of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Exalted Ruler Presides

Exalted Ruler Robert M. Smith presided over the ceremonies, and officers of Kingston took part in the regular Elks ritual honoring the Flag, a custom originated by the fraternal order in 1908 at a national assemblage in Dallas, Texas.

Benediction was offered by the Rev. Stanley Dean, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal Church, chaplain of Kingston Elks, and the assemblage joined in singing America led by Mrs. Charles Benton. Harry Maisenhelder was pianist.

Iliana A. Semmler, George Hastings Jr. Nuptials, Woodstock

The marriage of Miss Iliana Alexandra Semmler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Semmler, Zena road, Woodstock, to George Sands Hastings Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sands Hastings Sr., 102 Broodside road, Darien, Conn., took place at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon, June 13, at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Kenneth Dearstyne, pastor, Woodstock Methodist Church, performed the double ring ceremony. A reception for 75 guests followed, and was catered by au Gourmet of High Woods.

The home was decorated with white flowers, and the couple was married at a white bridal bower of gladioli, carnations and clematis. The floral arrangements were done by the House of Flowers, Kingston.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk antique taffeta, fashioned with a portrait neckline, long tapered sleeves, a molded bodice, and bouffant plaited skirt, having scalloped poufs edged in Spanish braid and terminating in a circular train, over a nylon tulle dust ruffle. Her three-quarter length French illusion veil was secured to bridal cap of matching taffeta and braid, trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of lily-of-the-valley, shattered white carnations and ivy, and wore her mother's pearls.

Miss Eleanor Hall of Kent, Conn., was the maid-of-honor. She was attired in an aqua gown of taffeta faille, styled with a portrait neckline, basque bodice, and a bouffant plaited skirt. She wore a bandeau of matching flowers with an afternoon veil, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Elizabeth Cooper of Larchmont, also attended the bride. Her ensemble was identical to that worn by maid-of-honor.

William H. Hastings of Baltimore, Md., was his brother's best man. Robert Maris of Lansdowne, Pa., served as usher.

The couple will spend the summer in their home in Philadelphia, after which they expect to travel to San Francisco, Calif. and make their home in Berkeley, Calif. For traveling, the bride chose a navy-blue shantung suit, honey colored Strouck coat, and white accessories.

Mrs. Hastings attended Kew-Forest School and the preparatory department of Juilliard School of Music, and was graduated from Northfield School for Girls in East Northfield, Mass. She attended Oberlin Conservatory, and was graduated from Swarthmore College, class of '53.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Charlie Higgins, a baseball-minded personality with a semi-professional players background, proposes a local baseball federation to co-ordinate all phases of the sport, from Little League through the City Baseball League and independent operations.

Higgins points out that a pool of Kingston baseball talent is in the process of being built up because of Little League and FYL, but fears these "graduates" will be tossed into a vacuum unless the twilight league is strengthened and independent baseball in the area is revived on a pre-war scale.

"What are we going to do with these youngsters after they leave high school?" he asks. "Not all of them will want to continue playing ball but the large percentage that do will have no outlet unless we can revive independent ball."

That is a sound and logical conclusion. Independent baseball should experience a revival in the next few years and the City League ought to be an eight-team circuit, playing six days a week. That's a long range proposal that merits the consideration of every baseball follower in the city. The proposed federation could serve as the co-ordinating agency and brighten the hope for a better baseball future in Kingston.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

A salute to Jimmy Morgan on his 64th birthday. Here is one of the truly great old timers in our midst. Morgan was a tremendous ball player in his day, a rugged, scrappy, provocative competitor. He was a master of the drag bunt in a fashion of a Ty Cobb or Jackie Robinson. Jimmy was a terrific jockey. He could stand in the coaching box or sit in the dugout, tormenting the opposition with a line of chatter that would sear the ears off a muleskin driver. They say he achieved uncanny batting success against Bud Culloton when the ex-Fordham great was at the peak of his career. In recent years Morgan turned to bowling sponsorships with considerable success. Back in 1933, his Repealers won the City Baseball League pennant after a historic playoff with Harry Sills' Crystal Gardens.

It was a natural vendetta between two beer barons and both clubs went to the extremes to hire extra pitching talent. Sills corralled Matty Begovich, the St. John's "Wonder Five" basketball ace and a topnotch college hurler of that day. Morgan called in the redoubtable Specs Ellis, the Millbrook southpaw. The Repealers won before a Saturday afternoon crowd and a riotous celebration followed at Jimmy's tavern. The huge championship trophy was the old-style loving cup with handles on both sides. Morgan filled it to the top with lager and the only sports writer on the team was granted the courtesy of the first drink. The Bruhn boys—Lutz and Fritzie—as they were known in those days, followed.

Morgan lived a glorious baseball past and spanned the decades when independent, town and semi-pro ball were vital community projects to the modern era of radio and TV. Jimmy would be the first to admit he isn't what he used to be . . . but neither is baseball . . . or any other sport for that matter.

• Of Men and Mice:

Mrs. Elizabeth Egan's 722 series rated No. 11 in the latest WIBC national standings. Ann Karrer of Philadelphia leads the nation with 750. Her home town competitor, Sylvia Wene, has posted 748, 729 and 704. The Syracuse Women's Bowling Association has set a goal of 5001 teams for the 1954 WIBC nationals at Jefferson Bowling Academy. Binghamton has already pledged 100 teams.

Hogan or Jones Greatest. Golfer? Sarazen, Cruickshank Choose Ben

Oakmont, Pa., June 15 (AP)—Ben Hogan's fourth victory in the United States Open golf championship has revived the controversy whether lithe little Ben or somewhat bigger Bobby Jones is the best golfer America ever has produced.

Gene Sarazen, who probably is in the best position to judge, unhesitatingly picks Hogan. Gene was one of the game's kingpins when Bobby was at his peak and he's still playing good golf against Ben and the new crop of tournament stars.

Bobby Cruickshank, who lost to Jones in the 1923 Open championship playoff—the first round of the four Bob won—stood in the Oakmont locker room the other day, nodded in Hogan's direction and said: "This young man is the greatest." He didn't even mention Jones, going back to some of the great Scottish players for comparisons.

Jones Stopped at 28

But it would be interesting to know what Jones would have done if he had continued to play tournament golf until he was 40. Bob won his first Open championship when he was 21. He retired at 28, sated with victories and wearied from the constant nervous strain of competition.

Hogan, the ex-caddy, didn't have the advantages Bob had as a youth. He's a self-taught golfer and he had to learn for himself how to control what Sam Snead calls the "yips."

Hogan didn't win his first Open title until he was 35 years old and now, at 40, he is just starting out to earn world-wide recognition. He'll play in the British Open at Carnousite next month for the first time.

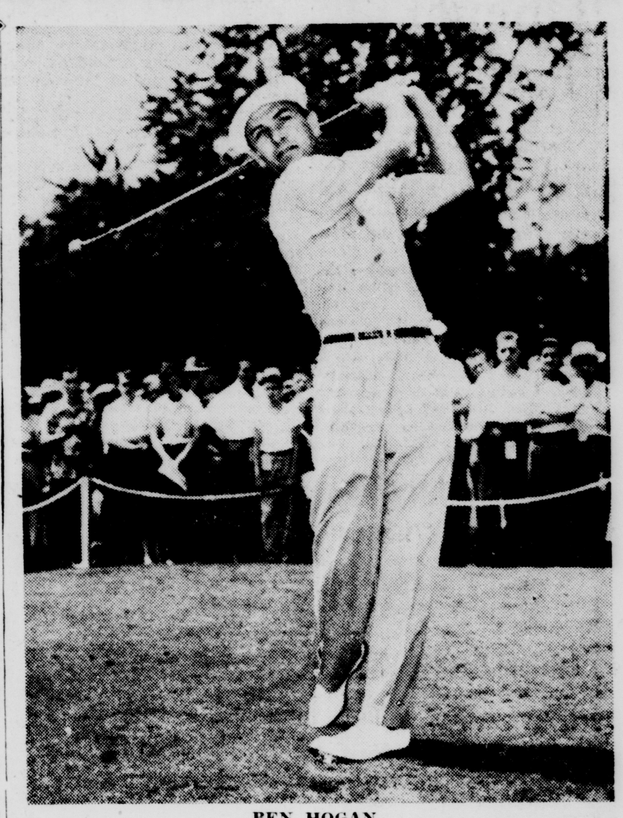

Wants to Be Liked

Hogan is pictured as a cold, emotionless machine and on the course that's how he acts. But he's eager as a puppy to be liked and to have his feats recognized. He was badly hurt when some rivals hinted he was receiving preferential treatment in starting times and in the "hurry up" movement. The main difference between him and the others is that Ben always knows what he wants to do and knows he can do it.

One sure thing is that Hogan had to beat more good golfers to win his titles than Jones ever did. In two previous Opens at Oakmont only one player ever had broken 300 for 72 holes. When Tommy Armour and Harry Cooper shot 301's in 1927, Jones's total was 309.

Last week Hogan fired rounds of 67-72-73-71—283, against a par of 72, and there were exactly 20 players with 299's or better.

Snead, cracking on the toughened-up last nine when he knew Hogan was in front of him with scores that could be beaten only by perfect golf, finished with 289. Lloyd Mangrum had 292 for third place. Three others, the youngest 37, had 294's. They were George Fazio, Jimmy Demaret and Pete Cooper.

Favors 'Grass Roots' Poll

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The Agriculture Department has asked three big farm groups to gather "grass roots" opinion on how the government should tackle farm income, export and surplus problems. The American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the National Farmers Union would take such a poll of farmers during the next six months. Results would be laid before Congress, the announcement said Saturday. The first two groups have applauded Secretary of Agriculture Benson's criticism that present farm programs are not good enough. The Farmers Union has defended present programs.

Wiltwyck-Merchant Game Loop's First Major Test

Fisher-Telepas Duel Is Probable

The City Baseball League's first four-star "crucial" game of the infant season is scheduled Tuesday at the Athletic Field.

It's the battle of the unbeaten giants—Wiltwyck Motors and Colonial Merchants—each with four straight conquests.

The joust brings together two talented squads with a plethora of pitching graces. In Tommy Fisher, the Motormen have one of the all-time mound greats of the City League.

Another twirler, hard working Joe Digastino, happens to be no less than the Most Valuable player of 1952. If that isn't enough, the defending champions can call on another tested veteran—Bud Finn—who plays the outfield because of his batting prowess.

Telepas to Start

This awesome array of pitching greatness has inspired no terror in the Merchant ranks. They have been saving George Telepas, the slick southpaw of the Kingston High school squad, for the big one.

Telepas in top form could give the champions a slight case of conniptions. The Golden Greek is well rested after the travails of Kingston High's unsuccessful 1953 DUSO pennant chase.

If Telepas goes under, Manager Bill Davis has strong-armed Tex Brown and Zeke Klosterman ready for relief. His one-two pitching punch compares favorably with the Wiltwyck trio.

Expect Crowd

City League officials are hoping for a break in weather and feel that this stellar attraction should bring out many fans who have yet to make their first 1953 pilgrimage to the Cornell street diamond.

Weather has been consistently cool this season in the evenings but the all-round calibre of play is excellent.

This big one Tuesday at 6:15 p. m., could be the start of better days for the venerable twilight loop.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Charlie Higgins, a baseball-minded personality with a semi-professional players background, proposes a local baseball federation to co-ordinate all phases of the sport, from Little League through the City Baseball League and independent operations.

Higgins points out that a pool of Kingston baseball talent is in the process of being built up because of Little League and FYL, but fears these "graduates" will be tossed into a vacuum unless the twilight league is strengthened and independent baseball in the area is revived on a pre-war scale.

"What are we going to do with these youngsters after they leave high school?" he asks. "Not all of them will want to continue playing ball but the large percentage that do will have no outlet unless we can revive independent ball."

That is a sound and logical conclusion. Independent baseball should experience a revival in the next few years and the City League ought to be an eight-team circuit, playing six days a week. That's a long range proposal that merits the consideration of every baseball follower in the city. The proposed federation could serve as the co-ordinating agency and brighten the hope for a better baseball future in Kingston.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

A salute to Jimmy Morgan on his 64th birthday. Here is one of the truly great old timers in our midst. Morgan was a tremendous ball player in his day, a rugged, scrappy, provocative competitor. He was a master of the drag bunt in a fashion of a Ty Cobb or Jackie Robinson. Jimmy was a terrific jockey. He could stand in the coaching box or sit in the dugout, tormenting the opposition with a line of chatter that would sear the ears off a muleskin driver. They say he achieved uncanny batting success against Bud Culloton when the ex-Fordham great was at the peak of his career. In recent years Morgan turned to bowling sponsorships with considerable success. Back in 1933, his Repealers won the City Baseball League pennant after a historic playoff with Harry Sills' Crystal Gardens.

It was a natural vendetta between two beer barons and both clubs went to the extremes to hire extra pitching talent. Sills corralled Matty Begovich, the St. John's "Wonder Five" basketball ace and a topnotch college hurler of that day. Morgan called in the redoubtable Specs Ellis, the Millbrook southpaw. The Repealers won before a Saturday afternoon crowd and a riotous celebration followed at Jimmy's tavern. The huge championship trophy was the old-style loving cup with handles on both sides. Morgan filled it to the top with lager and the only sports writer on the team was granted the courtesy of the first drink. The Bruhn boys—Lutz and Fritzie—as they were known in those days, followed.

Morgan lived a glorious baseball past and spanned the decades when independent, town and semi-pro ball were vital community projects to the modern era of radio and TV. Jimmy would be the first to admit he isn't what he used to be . . . but neither is baseball . . . or any other sport for that matter.

• Of Men and Mice:

Mrs. Elizabeth Egan's 722 series rated No. 11 in the latest WIBC national standings. Ann Karrer of Philadelphia leads the nation with 750. Her home town competitor, Sylvia Wene, has posted 748, 729 and 704. The Syracuse Women's Bowling Association has set a goal of 5001 teams for the 1954 WIBC nationals at Jefferson Bowling Academy. Binghamton has already pledged 100 teams.

LOCATION OF THE SPINNING REEL...

Hogan or Jones Greatest. Golfer? Sarazen, Cruickshank Choose Ben

Oakmont, Pa., June 15 (AP)—Ben Hogan's fourth victory in the United States Open golf championship has revived the controversy whether lithe little Ben or somewhat bigger Bobby Jones is the best golfer America ever has produced.

Gene Sarazen, who probably is in the best position to judge, unhesitatingly picks Hogan. Gene was one of the game's kingpins when Bobby was at his peak and he's still playing good golf against Ben and the new crop of tournament stars.

Bobby Cruickshank, who lost to Jones in the 1923 Open championship playoff—the first round of the four Bob won—stood in the Oakmont locker room the other day, nodded in Hogan's direction and said: "This young man is the greatest." He didn't even mention Jones, going back to some of the great Scottish players for comparisons.

Jones Stopped at 28

But it would be interesting to know what Jones would have done if he had continued to play tournament golf until he was 40. Bob won his first Open championship when he was 21. He retired at 28, sated with victories and wearied from the constant nervous strain of competition.

Hogan, the ex-caddy, didn't have the advantages Bob had as a youth. He's a self-taught golfer and he had to learn for himself how to control what Sam Snead calls the "yips."

Hogan didn't win his first Open title until he was 35 years old and now, at 40, he is just starting out to earn world-wide recognition. He'll play in the British Open at Carnousite next month for the first time.

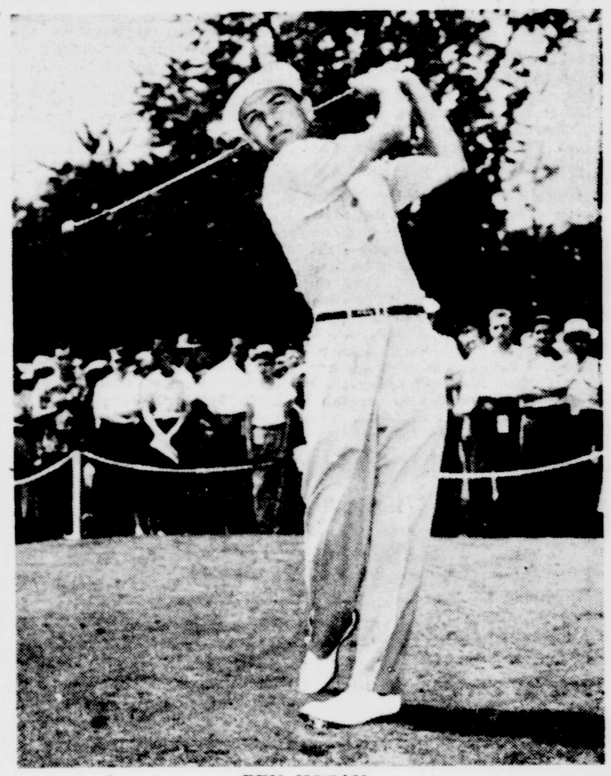

Wants to Be Liked

Hogan is pictured as a cold, emotionless machine and on the course that's how he acts. But he's eager as a puppy to be liked and to have his feats recognized. He was badly hurt when some rivals hinted he was receiving preferential treatment in starting times and in the "hurry up" movement. The main difference between him and the others is that Ben always knows what he wants to do and knows he can do it.

One sure thing is that Hogan had to beat more good golfers to win his titles than Jones ever did. In two previous Opens at Oakmont only one player ever had broken 300 for 72 holes. When Tommy Armour and Harry Cooper shot 301's in 1927, Jones's total was 309.

Last week Hogan fired rounds of 67-72-73-71—283, against a par of 72, and there were exactly 20 players with 299's or better.

Snead, cracking on the toughened-up last nine when he knew Hogan was in front of him with scores that could be beaten only by perfect golf, finished with 289. Lloyd Mangrum had 292 for third place. Three others, the youngest 37, had 294's. They were George Fazio, Jimmy Demaret and Pete Cooper.

Fishermen Report Attack

Haifa, Israel, June 15 (AP)—An Israeli fishing vessel, scarred with bullet marks, returned from fishing 15 miles off the Turkish coast today and reported she had been attacked by Arab fishermen. The Israeli legation in Ankara has been asked to inquire into the alleged attack.

Ray Jablonski of the Cardinals led the Carolina League in five departments in 1951. He topped the loop in hitting, runs-batted-in, home runs, hits and doubles.

Favors 'Grass Roots' Poll

Washington, June 15 (AP)—The Agriculture Department has asked three big farm groups to gather "grass roots" opinion on how the government should tackle farm income, export and surplus problems. The American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the National Farmers Union would take such a poll of farmers during the next six months. Results would be laid before Congress, the announcement said Saturday. The first two groups have applauded Secretary of Agriculture Benson's criticism that present farm programs are not good enough. The Farmers Union has defended present programs.

Wiltwyck-Merchant Game Loop's First Major Test

Fisher-Telepas Duel Is Probable

The City Baseball League's first four-star "crucial" game of the infant season is scheduled Tuesday at the Athletic Field.

It's the battle of the unbeaten giants—Wiltwyck Motors and Colonial Merchants—each with four straight conquests.

The joust brings together two talented squads with a plethora of pitching graces. In Tommy Fisher, the Motormen have one of the all-time mound greats of the City League.

Another twirler, hard working Joe Digastino, happens to be no less than the Most Valuable player of 1952. If that isn't enough, the defending champions can call on another tested veteran—Bud Finn—who plays the outfield because of his batting prowess.

Telepas to Start

This awesome array of pitching greatness has inspired no terror in the Merchant ranks. They have been saving George Telepas, the slick southpaw of the Kingston High school squad, for the big one.

Telepas in top form could give the champions a slight case of conniptions. The Golden Greek is well rested after the travails of Kingston High's unsuccessful 1953 DUSO pennant chase.

If Telepas goes under, Manager Bill Davis has strong-armed Tex Brown and Zeke Klosterman ready for relief. His one-two pitching punch compares favorably with the Wiltwyck trio.

Expect Crowd

City League officials are hoping for a break in weather and feel that this stellar attraction should bring out many fans who have yet to make their first 1953 pilgrimage to the Cornell street diamond.

Weather has been consistently cool this season in the evenings but the all-round calibre of play is excellent.

This big one Tuesday at 6:15 p. m., could be the start of better days for the venerable twilight loop.

The Fraternal Youth League opens its 1953 season this evening at 6:15 at municipal stadium, with the Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting the Elks Club.

Probable starting pitchers are Tony Turck for the Elks and Joe Pino for VFW.

The inaugural will be preceded by brief ceremonies.

In other games this week, (Kingston Patrolmen's Association) meets the Rotary and the Elks make a second appearance, against the American Legion.

Art Houtteman Traded to Indians

Cleveland, June 15 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today made a four-for-four player swap with the Detroit Tigers, giving up shortstop Ray Boone and three pitchers for pitchers Art Houtteman and Bill Wight, catcher Joe Ginsberg and second baseman Owen Friend.

The three pitchers the Indians sent to the last-place Tigers in what the tribe's front office called "a straight player trade" were veteran Steve Gromek, rookie southpaw Al Aber and Dick Weik, a righthander off military leave who has not pitched this season because of a sore arm.

Houtteman, 26-year-old righthander, has a 2-6 record this year and a lifetime mark of 53-63. Southpaw Wight, who is 31, is 0-3 this year and has a career record of 51-71.

Boone, with Cleveland since 1948, currently was hitting .241 but had been benched for George Strickland.

Two Die in Plane Crash

Warren, Vt., June 15 (AP)—Freeman Lovett, 64, president of the Rockland, N. Y., Light and Power Co., the Rockland Electric Co., of New Jersey, and the Pike County Electric Co., of Pennsylvania, and True C. Morrill, 69, dean of the evening division of Bergen Junior College, Teaneck, N. J., were killed here in the crash of Lovett's plane Saturday. They had taken off from Mahwah, N. J., for a trip to Barre, Vt. The plane landed at an airport here for a stop at Lovett's summer home. It crashed on takeoff from the airport.

Cairo, Egypt, June 15 (AP)—Weekend fires in seven villages in various parts of Egypt left 24 persons dead and 67 injured, with 668 houses destroyed. The outbreaks coincided with the three-day holiday of Bairam, ending the dawn-to-dusk Ramadan fast.

American League Race (?) Big Joke After Yankee Sweep Over Cleveland

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unless Al Lopez is an incurable optimist who wears rose colored glasses even in the dark, he could do worse than give his Cleveland Indians a little talk today—something like this:

"We've tried everything to beat those Yanks, but whatever we do, they manage to go us one better. When we streak, they put together a better streak. When we have the pitching, they manage to get the big blow to beat us. When we have the hitting, they outslug us. Let's concentrate on nailing down second place this year and give it another whirl in 1954."

Until a week ago, Lopez was still talking pennant. But the clean sweep of the four-game series that ended with a double conquest, 6-2, and 3-0, for the Yanks yesterday, just about knocked the breath and hope out of the Tribe.

Runaway Likely

Casey Stengel's crew now is 10½ games ahead of the Indians with the season not half over.

The time has come, in fact, to talk about records, rather than who is going to win the American League pennant. The Yanks have won 18 games in a row, which is the third longest winning streak in American League history.

Back in 1906, the Chicago White Sox put together a skein of 19 games, and the Yanks of 1947 duplicated the feat. Both won the pennant.

The New York Giants of 1916 set the major league record of 26 straight victories, a mark within the reach of the Yanks, at the rate they are going. The 1916 Giants, by the way, finished fourth.

Fifteen of the Yanks' triumphs have been on the road. This is one short of the American League record set by the Senators, and two under the major league mark by the same 1916 Giants.

Berra on Spree

Yank catcher Yogi Berra actually knocked in enough runs to win each game. In the opener, Yogi hit a home run off Bob Lemon with two on in the eighth with his team behind, 2-1. Then in the second game, he clouted a triple in the fourth with two more mates aboard as Vic Raschi tossed a three-hit shutout.

On the subject of streaks, the St. Louis Browns lost their 14th straight when they took a twin shellacking from the Philadelphia A's, 4-1 and 3-1.

The Chicago White Sox moved into third place with a pair of triumphs over the Red Sox, 6-0 and 1-0. The White Sox now hold a half-game margin over the Red Sox and the Washington Senators.

Billy Pierce tossed the first shutout for the Pale Hose, giving up only two hits.

In the only single American League game of the day, the Senators slugged the hapless Detroit Tigers, 6-1, behind the strong-arm hurling of Frank Shea.

Braves Stay Ahead

The see-saw battle for first place in the National League continued between the Milwaukee Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers. The amazing Braves edged past the Brooks by winning a double-header from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3 and 8-0.

The Brooks knocked off the Chicago Cubs, 6-3, in the opener of their scheduled doubleheader with Billy Loes and Joe Black both working. In the nightcap, they had to be content with a 6-all tie. The Dodgers were ahead, 6-2, in the ninth when Ralph Kiner smashed a home run with the bases loaded and two out to tie the count.

The grand slammer was the 12th of Kiner's career and put him in a tie with Rogers Hornsby for the league leadership in that department. The late Lou Gehrig holds the all-time record of 23.

Ken Raffensberger outpitched Robin Roberts as the Cincinnati Redlegs beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-1, in the first game of a doubleheader. The Phils came back to win the second, though, 4-1, with Carl Drews going eight innings.

Harvey Haddix and Sal Maglie hooked up in another brilliant pitching duel, with the former hurling the St. Louis Cardinals to a 1-0 triumph in the first game of a twin bill. The Cards also won the nightcap, 9-4, behind Vinegar Bend Mizell.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching — Vic Raschi, New York Yankees, held the Cleveland Indians to three hits as the Yanks won the second game of a doubleheader, 3-0. They also won the opener, 6-2.

Batting—Yogi Berra, New York Yankees, hit a home run with two on in the first game and a triple with two on in the second game, to knock in more runs than the Yanks needed to win the two games.

No Important Trades Expected as Deadline Arrives at Midnight

New York, June 15 (AP)—The deadline on trading in the major leagues arrives at midnight tonight with most of the clubs looking for help but not willing to give up what the other fellow wants.

Two deals were made over the weekend but chances of any more today appeared remote.

On Saturday the St. Louis Browns sent pitcher Virgil Trucks and veteran infielder Bob Elliott to the Chicago White Sox and received in return, pitcher Lou Kretlow, catcher Darrell Johnson and undisclosed sum of money.

And then yesterday the Cardinals and the Pirates got together with St. Louis trading outfielder Hal Rice for reserve infielder Pete Castiglione.

The Pirates still are looking for pitchers and may make a deal before day is done with the Cincinnati Redlegs who are in the same predicament. Both are loaded with hurlers who are unable to win.

The Brooklyn Dodgers would like Herman Wehmeier of the Redlegs. They also have designs on Warren Hacker of the Chicago Cubs.

Sheriff to Add Seven Deputies

Seven part-time deputies will be appointed to bring the sheriff's department to sufficient strength so that staff members may go on a five-day, 40-hour work week, Sheriff Cluett Schantz said today.

The five-day week, for which the Board of Supervisors approved an appropriation on Tuesday, will go into effect sometime in July, the sheriff said. The exact date has not been determined.

The new deputies will be hired for Saturday and Sunday work. A jailor or assistant jailor will be on duty weekends with each shift, under a schedule that will be worked out, so that the new men will always be working under the direction of an experienced member of the department.

The five-day week will not apply to top positions in the department such as sheriff, undersheriff, county investigator and assistant.

The nocturnal program of the Recreation Department for the summer of 1953 will begin tonight with the showing of the movie Best of the Badmen with Robert Ryan in Block Park starting at dusk. The movie will be shown Tuesday at Forsyth and Wednesday at Hasbrouck also starting at dusk.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's When Not To Draw Trumps

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The bidding in today's hand was very busy. South had a sound opening bid with 13 points in high cards and 2 points for the singleton. North had an excellent double raise with strong four-card trump support, 11 points in normay high-card strength, 1 point extra for the king of South's bid suit, and 2 points for the singleton.

The double raise showed strong trump support in a hand that counts from 13 to 17 points, and in this case North's total count was 14 points.

South was not really tempted to try for a slam. He had a minimum opening bid, and it was very unlikely that the combined count was even close to 33 points. Hence South contented himself with bidding game, and North naturally had to accept this decision.

The play should have been every bit as simple as the bidding, but South found a way to be set. The hand is worth a second look because it is a type that you often encounter in actual play.

West opened the five of hearts, and dummy won with the ace. South immediately drew three rounds of trumps and then looked around for new worlds to conquer.

Unfortunately, he had already conquered himself. There was now only one trump left in dummy, and South had three losing diamonds in his hand. It was obviously impossible to ruff his three diamonds with dummy's one trump, and South wound up losing three clubs and two diamonds.

An experienced and expert declarer would foresee as soon as the dummy appeared that he would have to ruff some losing diamonds in the dummy. Such a declarer would therefore carefully refrain from drawing trumps.

This can be stated as a general rule for the guidance of inexperienced bridge players: Study the dummy to see whether or not you need to ruff your losing cards with dummy's trumps. If you need ruffs of this kind, don't draw trumps; if you don't need ruffs of this kind, do draw trumps.

Following this rule, declarer should win the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts, cash the ace of diamonds, and ruff a diamond in dummy. He returns to his hand by ruffing a heart in order to ruff a second diamond in dummy.

Then South gets to his own hand once more by ruffing a heart in order to ruff his last diamond in dummy. Now South can cheerfully give up three club tricks but cannot lose the game contract.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, June 15 — The Phoenicia, Shandaken and Mt. Tremper - Mt. Pleasant volunteer fire companies staged a fire drill in Mt. Pleasant Wednesday night. Members of the newly-formed Onteora Hose company, which will serve this area, received many valuable pointers from the fire drill.

Mrs. Edward Burns of Brooklyn spent a few days last week with her daughter and granddaughters, Mrs. Robert Hudler and the Misses Jill and Jean Hudler.

Arthur Reid is spending a three-week vacation touring Canada. He plans to visit Niagara Falls from both the American and Canadian side and then will travel through Ontario and Quebec.

Mrs. Freda Schuhose, Mrs. Vera Winne, Mrs. Fred Hornbach, and Richard Byron and Kenneth Umphey, Sr., all celebrated birthdays within the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Steixner visited his mother, Mrs. Fred Steixner over the weekend.

Mrs. Isabel Rosnick and son William spent a few days at their home on the Wittenberg road last week.

Mrs. J. Andres, who lives in Glendale during the winter months, has reopened her home on Umhey Mountain and plans to stay until late Fall.

Pfc. Roger Winne was scheduled to sail for Germany on Saturday. His bride of a month, the former Harriet Ruess of Boiceville, is now residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Winne at their home on the Onteora Trail. Roger will be stationed in Germany for at least a year.

Mrs. Elizabeth Blee, Mrs. Etta Powell and Mrs. Helene Umhey spent Thursday in Kingston.

Federation Votes On By-Law Changes At Next Meeting

Members of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county will vote on two by-law changes at the next regular meeting on Thursday, June 18, at the county court house.

One of the proposed changes would accept a new member club by a majority vote of the members clubs present at a meeting, instead of by a unanimous vote of all present.

Another proposal would eliminate the current by-laws provision that stipulates that all persons voting for a member club, except president and vice-president, must have written authority to do so.

The Federation has also been asked to reaffirm its position relative to the Forest Preserve. The Federation is one of many organizations who want the preserve to remain forever wild, thereby protecting these areas, which now belong to all the people, from any inroads whatsoever.

At the March, 1952 meeting the Federation took this action, but it appears desirable that it restate its position in order to counteract suggestions made by a neighbor club which would permit lumbering in the preserve.

Art Houtteman Traded to Indians

Cleveland, June 15 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today made a four-for-four player swap with the Detroit Tigers, giving up shortstop Ray Boone and three pitchers for pitchers Art Houtteman and Bill Wight, catcher Joe Ginsberg and second baseman Owen Friend.

The three pitchers the Indians sent to the last-place Tigers in what the tribe's front office called "a straight player trade" were veteran Steve Gromek, rookie southpaw Al Aber and Dick Weik, a righthander off military leave who has not pitched this season because of a sore arm.

Houtteman, 26-year-old righthander, has a 2-6 record this year and a lifetime mark of 53-63. Southpaw Wight, who is 31, is 0-3 this year and has a career record of 51-71.

Boone, with Cleveland since 1948, currently was hitting .241 but had been benched for George Strickland.

American League Race (?) Big Joke After Yankee Sweep Over Cleveland

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unless Al Lopez is an incurable optimist who wears rose colored glasses even in the dark, he could do worse than give his Cleveland Indians a little talk today—something like this:

"We've tried everything to beat those Yanks, but whatever we do, they manage to go us one better. When we streak, they put together a better streak. When we have the pitching, they manage to get the big blow to beat us. When we have the hitting, they outslug us. Let's concentrate on nailing down second place this year and give it another whirl in 1954."

Until a week ago, Lopez was still talking pennant. But the clean sweep of the four-game series that ended with a double conquest, 6-2, and 3-0, for the Yanks yesterday, just about knocked the breath and hope out of the Tribe.

Runaway Likely

Casey Stengel's crew now is 10½ games ahead of the Indians with the season not half over.

The time has come, in fact, to talk about records, rather than who is going to win the American League pennant. The Yanks have won 18 games in a row, which is the third longest winning streak in American League history.

Back in 1906, the Chicago White Sox put together a skein of 19 games, and the Yanks of 1947 duplicated the feat. Both won the pennant.

The New York Giants of 1916 set the major league record of 26 straight victories, a mark within the reach of the Yanks, at the rate they are going. The 1916 Giants, by the way, finished fourth.

Fifteen of the Yanks' triumphs have been on the road. This is one short of the American League record set by the Senators, and two under the major league mark by the same 1916 Giants.

Berra on Spree

Yank catcher Yogi Berra actually knocked in enough runs to win each game. In the opener, Yogi hit a home run off Bob Lemon with two on in the eighth with his team behind, 2-1. Then in the second game, he clouted a triple in the fourth with two more mates aboard as Vic Raschi tossed a three-hit shutout.

On the subject of streaks, the St. Louis Browns lost their 14th straight when they took a twin shellacking from the Philadelphia A's, 4-1 and 3-1.

The Chicago White Sox moved into third place with a pair of triumphs over the Red Sox, 6-0 and 1-0. The White Sox now hold a half-game margin over the Red Sox and the Washington Senators.

Billy Pierce tossed the first shutout for the Pale Hose, giving up only two hits.

In the only single American League game of the day, the Senators slugged the hapless Detroit Tigers, 6-1, behind the strong-arm hurling of Frank Shea.

Braves Stay Ahead

The see-saw battle for first place in the National League continued between the Milwaukee Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers. The amazing Braves edged past the Brooks by winning a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3 and 8-0.

The Brooks knocked off the Chicago Cubs, 6-3, in the opener of their scheduled doubleheader with Billy Loes and Joe Black both working. In the nightcap, they had to be content with a 6-all tie. The Dodgers were ahead, 6-2, in the ninth when Ralph Kiner smashed a home run with the bases loaded and two out to tie the count.

The grand slammer was the 12th of Kiner's career and put him in a tie with Rogers Hornsby for the league leadership in that department. The late Lou Gehrig holds the all-time record of 23.

Ken Raffensberger outpitched Robin Roberts as the Cincinnati Redlegs beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-1, in the first game of a doubleheader. The Phils came back to win the second, though, 4-1, with Carl Drews going eight innings.

Harvey Haddix and Sal Maglie hooked up in another brilliant pitching duel, with the former hurling the St. Louis Cardinals to a 1-0 triumph in the first game of a twin bill. The Cards also won the nightcap, 9-4, behind Vinegar Bend Mizell.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching — Vic Raschi, New York Yankees, held the Cleveland Indians to three hits as the Yanks won the second game of a doubleheader, 3-0. They also won the opener, 6-2.

Batting—Yogi Berra, New York Yankees, hit a home run with two on in the first game and a triple with two on in the second game, to knock in more runs than the Yanks needed to win the two games.

No Important Trades Expected as Deadline Arrives at Midnight

New York, June 15 (AP)—The deadline on trading in the major leagues arrives at midnight tonight with most of the clubs looking for help but not willing to give up what the other fellow wants.

Two deals were made over the weekend but chances of any more today appeared remote.

On Saturday the St. Louis Browns sent pitcher Virgil Trucks and veteran infielder Bob Elliott to the Chicago White Sox and received in return, pitcher Lou Kretlow, catcher Darrell Johnson and undisclosed sum of money.

And then yesterday the Cardinals and the Pirates got together with St. Louis trading outfielder Hal Rice for reserve infielder Pete Castiglione.

The Pirates still are looking for pitchers and may make a deal before day is done with the Cincinnati Redlegs who are in the same predicament. Both are loaded with hurlers who are unable to win.

The Brooklyn Dodgers would like Herman Wehmeier of the Redlegs. They also have designs on Warren Hacker of the Chicago Cubs.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here's When Not To Draw Trumps

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The bidding in today's hand was very busy. South had a sound opening bid with 13 points in high cards and 2 points for the singleton. North had an excellent double raise with strong four-card trump support, 11 points in normay high-card strength, 1 point extra for the king of South's bid suit, and 2 points for the singleton.

The double raise showed strong trump support in a hand that counts from 13 to 17 points, and in this case North's total count was 14 points.

South was not really tempted to try for a slam. He had a minimum opening bid, and it was very unlikely that the combined count was even close to 33 points. Hence South contented himself with bidding game, and North naturally had to accept this decision.

The play should have been every bit as simple as the bidding, but South found a way to be set. The hand is worth a second look because it is a type that you often encounter in actual play.

West opened the five of hearts, and dummy won with the ace. South immediately drew three rounds of trumps and then looked around for new worlds to conquer.

Unfortunately, he had already conquered himself. There was now only one trump left in dummy, and South had three losing diamonds in his hand. It was obviously impossible to ruff his three diamonds with dummy's one trump, and South wound up losing three clubs and two diamonds.

An experienced and expert declarer would foresee as soon as the dummy appeared that he would have to ruff some losing diamonds in the dummy. Such a declarer would therefore carefully refrain from drawing trumps.

This can be stated as a general rule for the guidance of inexperienced bridge players: Study the dummy to see whether or not you need to ruff your losing cards with dummy's trumps. If you need ruffs of this kind, don't draw trumps; if you don't need ruffs of this kind, do draw trumps.

Following this rule, declarer should win the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts, cash the ace of diamonds, and ruff a diamond in dummy. He returns to his hand by ruffing a heart in order to ruff a second diamond in dummy.

Then South gets to his own hand once more by ruffing a heart in order to ruff his last diamond in dummy. Now South can cheerfully give up three club tricks but cannot lose the game contract.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, June 15 — The Phoenicia, Shandaken and Mt. Tremper - Mt. Pleasant volunteer fire companies staged a fire drill in Mt. Pleasant Wednesday night. Members of the newly-formed Onteora Hose company, which will serve this area, received many valuable pointers from the fire drill.

Mrs. Edward Burns of Brooklyn spent a few days last week with her daughter and granddaughters, Mrs. Robert Hudler and the Misses Jill and Jean Hudler.

Arthur Reid is spending a three-week vacation touring Canada. He plans to visit Niagara Falls from both the American and Canadian side and then will travel through Ontario and Quebec.

Mrs. Freda Schuhose, Mrs. Vera Winne, Mrs. Fred Hornbach, and Richard Byron and Kenneth Umphey, Sr., all celebrated birthdays within the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Steixner visited his mother, Mrs. Fred Steixner over the weekend.

Mrs. Isabel Rosnick and son William spent a few days at their home on the Wittenberg road last week.

Mrs. J. Andres, who lives in Glendale during the winter months, has reopened her home on Umhey Mountain and plans to stay until late Fall.

Pfc. Roger Winne was scheduled to sail for Germany on Saturday. His bride of a month, the former Harriet Ruess of Boiceville, is now residing with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Winne at their home on the Onteora Trail. Roger will be stationed in Germany for at least a year.

Mrs. Elizabeth Blee, Mrs. Etta Powell and Mrs. Helene Umhey spent Thursday in Kingston.

Federation Votes On By-Law Changes At Next Meeting

Members of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county will vote on two by-law changes at the next regular meeting on Thursday, June 18, at the county court house.

One of the proposed changes would accept a new member club by a majority vote of the members clubs present at a meeting, instead of by a unanimous vote of all present.

Another proposal would eliminate the current by-laws provision that stipulates that all persons voting for a member club, except president and vice-president, must have written authority to do so.

The Federation has also been asked to reaffirm its position relative to the Forest Preserve. The Federation is one of many organizations who want the preserve to remain forever wild, thereby protecting these areas, which now belong to all the people, from any inroads whatsoever.

At the March, 1952 meeting the Federation took this action, but it appears desirable that it restate its position in order to counteract suggestions made by a neighbor club which would permit lumbering in the preserve.

Sheriff to Add Seven Deputies

Seven part-time deputies will be appointed to bring the sheriff's department to sufficient strength so that staff members may go on a five-day, 40-hour work week, Sheriff Cluett Schantz said today.

The five-day week, for which the Board of Supervisors approved an appropriation on Tuesday, will go into effect sometime in July, the sheriff said. The exact date has not been determined.

The new deputies will be hired for Saturday and Sunday work. A jailor or assistant jailor will be on duty weekends with each shift, under a schedule that will be worked out, so that the new men will always be working under the direction of an experienced member of the department.

The five-day week will not apply to top positions in the department such as sheriff, undersheriff, county investigator and assistant.

Reed Predicts Democrat Victory, Unless Taxes Cut

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R.-N.Y.) predicted today that if taxes are not cut this year, the Democrats will win back control of Congress in 1954.

Taking direct issue with President Eisenhower, Reed said a promise to cut taxes "was one of the main pledges made during the campaign" by GOP members of Congress "and the President too." Eisenhower has said he never promised to reduce taxes right away.

"You'd be surprised the way the people resent the failure to keep that pledge," Reed said in a copyrighted interview published today by the magazine U. S. News and World Report. "If the people don't get this tax reduction now, you will have a Democratic Congress next time."

Balks at Provisions

Reed, in a position as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee to influence taxes more than any other man in Congress, has been balking at two major provisions of Eisenhower's tax program:

1. A request that the excess profits tax on business, due to expire at the end of this month, be extended for six months to bring in an estimated 800 million dollars toward balancing the budget. Reed wants the tax to expire on schedule.

2. A request that a 10 per cent cut in individual income taxes be permitted to take effect next Jan. 1, as scheduled under present law. Reed wants to advance it to July 1.

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R.-Mass.) said over the weekend he knows a majority of the 15 Republicans on Reed's committee "are ready to bring * * * to the House floor" an extension of the excess profits tax. But Reed said that "except for possibly three members" the Republicans on his group want the tax to expire.

There has been no indication that Reed will call his committee together to act on the excess profits tax extension. House GOP leaders concede that unless he does so, there may be no way to get the bill to the floor.

Colby Coed Booked On Murder Charge Of Own Baby Girl

Waterville, Me., June 15 (AP)—While classmates joined today in commencement, the happy climactic day of college life, Colby College Coed Harriet Sart, 21, conferred with parents and counsel about her pending arraignment on a murder charge.

The tiny, blonde, Nahant, Mass., senior was booked for murder after discovery yesterday of the decomposed body of a baby in a stored trunk bearing her name.

County Attorney Joseph B. Campbell said Miss Sart would be arraigned in municipal court tomorrow.

Gave Birth Unaided

Campbell quoted Miss Sart as saying she gave birth to the baby girl unaided in a single room at the dormitory and put the infant in a trunk which was stored in the dormitory basement.

Campbell would not say when the child was born or died, pending an autopsy report.

A rawhide cord of the type used for shoe laces was wrapped around the baby's neck, Campbell said.

The discovery was made by a janitor tracing an unpleasant odor in the basement while baccalaureate services were being conducted on another part of the campus.

Campbell said the girl missed only one day's classes—the day the child was born—and gained only seven pounds while carrying it.

He said she told him she had shipped home three trunks and had planned to ship the trunk containing the body tomorrow.

Eisenhower Says

mation designating this week as "Theodore Roosevelt Week," Eisenhower said there is a tendency "when we cast our minds back to dramatic figures of the past to over-dramatize them."

The picture of "Teddy Roosevelt, a rough rider," is an example, Eisenhower said. He added:

"We like to think of his relationships with the Congress as galloping down Pennsylvania avenue on a spirited charger with a sabre in his hand and riding into House and Senate and demanding what he wanted, and riding out with everybody cowed."

However, Eisenhower said, Roosevelt was "a wise leader" and "not a swashbuckler."

Eisenhower then gave this appraisal of Roosevelt:

A "great moral leader," also "A great soldier in his regiment, * * * great student, and a great writer * * *.

"* * * he was a man who understood his fellow human beings. He understood those things for which they yearned, and which they deserved under the principles in which he believed. And he set out by patient work. * * *

"* * * as we look back and study his career, and get more perspective, it grows only more brilliant with time. * * *"

Eisenhower stopped here at the end of a flying five-day speaking trip across the country. The President visited in a number of midwestern and New England states, coming here from Dartmouth College at Hanover, N. H. He returned to Washington late yesterday.

Among those who also spoke at Sagamore Hill were Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, and former President Hoover, who introduced Eisenhower as "Theodore Roosevelt's successor."

'Hot Rod Katie' Put on Probation

New York, June 15 (AP) — Mrs. Catherine Fiore, 22-year-old mother characterized by police as "Hot Rod Katie" and "the Fordham Hot Rod" because of her penchant for fast automobiles, was placed on probation today for three years and ordered to stay out of automobiles by Bronx County Judge Eugene G. Schulz.

She had pleaded guilty before him to a charge of criminally receiving stolen goods.

Mrs. Fiore, who lives at 3831 Pratt avenue, the Bronx, with her son, Anthony 4, pleaded guilty last April 13. The court sentenced her to an indeterminate term in the city penitentiary but stayed execution of the sentence.

"Stay out of automobiles," Judge Schulz said. "Drive no more and take care of your child."

At another point, the court told the defendant:

"You are completely irresponsible and its only because your child needs a mother's care that I'm placing you on probation."

Mrs. Fiore, police said, is separated from her husband, Nicholas.

She became known as "Hot Rod Katie" after traffic violations recently had cost her $877 in fines.

In her magistrates court appearances, she usually appeared attired in slacks and other rough clothes. Today she looked demure and feminine in curled black hair and a light blue summer print dress.

County Vols Meet Tuesday

Final plans for the annual convention in July in the town of Ulster will be made at a meeting tomorrow at 8 p. m., in Centerville of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. The firemen will be guests of the Saxton and Centerville fire companies. The convention is scheduled to be held July 16, 17 and 18.

British Sub Ends Long Underwater Trip

Portsmouth, England, June 15 (AP)—A British submarine reached England today after a 2,500-mile trip from Bermuda—made all the way under water. It evidently took about two weeks.

The trip was only about half as long as the 5,200-mile underwater run by the U. S. submarine Pickerel in 1950. That trip was from Hong Kong to Pearl Harbor in 21 days.

Both the American and British submarines were equipped with snorkel apparatus, a breathing tube extending to the surface. This apparatus was developed by the Germans during World War 2, from a Dutch idea.

Why We Say--

. . . Tender spot

We refer to a man's vulnerable spot as the "Achilles' Heel" in allusion to a Greek myth. Achilles mother made him strong by dipping him in the river Styx. The prescription worked, but his one weak spot was his heel where his mother held him. Achilles died of a wound received in the heel.

Cleanup Drive Is Begun in Alabama To Combat Polio

Montgomery, Ala., June 15 (AP)—An urgent garbage, trash and barnyard cleanup campaign is underway in Montgomery to combat the nation's worst outbreak of polio thus far in 1953.

But the first response has been discouraging, and Dr. A. H. Graham, Montgomery County Health Officer, warned that the "people must cooperate" in the drive to stamp out breeding grounds for disease-carrying insects, particularly flies.

Forty-four children and two adults have been stricken with polio, the heaviest toll recorded here at this time of the year. Twenty-eight victims have suffered partial or total paralysis, but there has been only one death so far.

Dr. Morris Schaeffer, director of the Virus Laboratory of the U. S. Public Health Service here, said Montgomery with a population of 105,000 is the hardest hit community in the nation on a per capital basis. The toll here is greater than the rest of Alabama put together.

Without any proof that polio is borne by any one carrier, public health officials nevertheless are concentrating on the cleanup campaign, together with a block-by-block city-sponsored insect spraying project.

The emphasis on fly eradication is a result of Health Officer Graham's determination to overlook nothing in the fight against the crippling polio.

And while it may be just coincidence, he says the fly problem is worst this year than he has ever seen it in Montgomery.

Whether flies alone can cause a severe outbreak of polio, this much is certain, says Dr. Schaeffer:

Scientists know that the virus is present in sewage, and some types of flies can become contaminated with it.

President Hits 'Book Burners' In College Talk

Washington, June 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower, speaking out against "the book burners," declared yesterday that Americans must fight communism "with something better, not try to conceal the thinking of our own people."

Eisenhower named no names, but his statement recalled the demand by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), acceded to by the State Department, that the government withdraw from its overseas libraries books by authors who are known Communists or fellow travelers.

The President said even those with whose views we disagree have a right to have their views on record in public places—"or it is not America."

"Don't join the book burner," the President told the graduating class at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N. H. "Don't think you are going to swerve something by concealing evidence that it ever existed, don't be afraid to go to the library and read every book, so long as that document does not offend our own ideas of decency * * *.

Must Not Conceal Thinking

"How will we defeat communism, unless we know what it is, and why it has such an appeal for men? Why are so many people swearing allegiance to it? It is almost a religion—albeit in one of the nether regions. We have got to fight it with something better, not try to conceal the thinking of our own people."

This was the first of two short talks the President made yesterday in the whirlwind finish to a five-day speaking tour which took him into five states. He also flew over serious storm damage in Michigan and Massachusetts and pledged federal aid and money toward reconstruction.

Back at his desk today, the President's first appointment (7:30 a. m. EST) was with the Republican congressional leaders—not including Sen. Taft (R-Ohio, undergoing threatment in New York city for a hip ailment.

Dedicates TR Home as Shrine

From New Hampshire, the President flew to Oyster Bay, N. Y., and dedicated the summer home of Theodore Roosevelt as a national shrine. He shared the platform with former President Herbert Hoover and New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

At Dartmouth, where he received an honorary doctor of laws degrees, he spoke before an audience of about 10,000 spectators and 563 graduates.

News Straw Poll Indicates Halley As Mayor Choice

New York, June 15 (AP)—City Council President Rudolph Halley has come out on top in the New York Daily News mayoral preference poll.

Final returns in the poll, the News announced today, showed Halley got nearly one straw to every three cast for his combined opposition.

Calling Halley "the people's choice for mayor—as of now," the newspaper said he carried outright 34 of the 67 assembly districts, and also tied in two.

Halley ran 5-to-4 over second-place Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who says he is not a candidate, and built up a 5-to-3 margin over Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri in third place.

Halley was 2-to-1 over Kings county (Brooklyn) Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz, who was fourth, and topped fifth-place Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan by about 5-to-2.

Halley carried four of the five boroughs, losing Manhattan to Roosevelt by 38 straws.

The aggregate for the seven Republicans among the 15 names on the preference poll ballot came to only 14.1 per cent of the straws cast.

The News said the poll's "sample was substantial, each straw being equivalent to about 350 eligible voters"—a total of 2,625,000.

Quick Truce Signs

win more ground before an armistice and push the truce line closer to the 38th Parallel—the pre-war political dividing line.

2. The Reds also may want to be able to claim a "final victory" for prestige purposes. This would allow them to claim in Asia-aimed propaganda they were winning when the shooting stopped.

3. The Chinese could be bent on trying to impress the South Koreans who have vowed to fight on alone.

Could Be Delaying

4. Or they could be deliberately delaying an armistice for reasons of their own.

In his broadcast, Taylor warned UN troops not to have any visions of a quick trip home.

"There must be no thought of going home until permanent peace and stability has been restored to Korea," he said.

"The Eighth Army must live in accordance with the terms of the armistice" and must man the battle stations "until it is definitely established that the fighting will not be resumed."

He added, "the armistice is not a peace—it is only a pause in the fighting" until a post-armistice political conference writes a final peace.

South Korean military and civilian leaders for the most part withheld comment on Taylor's address.

However, a few expressed pleasure at the statement that there should be no thought of going home until permanent peace has been restored.

As Pegler Sees It

dominant character of the American people at any time. And it certainly refutes the contention that Senator Pat McCarran, personally, out of cruel bigotry which is foreign to his known disposition, put over the immigration law now on our books. This law was passed by Congress according to the constitutional method and was passed again over Harry Truman's veto by the same Congress, again according to the Constitution. So that was the solemn, considered intent of Congress.

It is no digression to insist that this action on immigration further supports Attlee's contention, and mine, that the Constitution was devised for the benefit of the people and the states of this Union and not with an eye to the interests of any foreign people or state. We had turned our faces west and repudiated the political emotions and customs of the Old World except that admittedly we did draw on the best in the British political charters for ideas in contriving ours. We pointedly acknowledged the existence of such a thing as treason against each of the several states, a tribute to their integrity and rights, as states, which were absolutely lost to view in the grand treasons of 1937 when the Committee for Industrial Organization was waging terror in many states. Roosevelt encouraged this program of treason and rewarded Frank Murphy, the governor of Michigan, for his failure, through cowardice or treachery, to put down treason in Michigan.

There is nothing in the Constitution to conflict with Attlee's belief and mine that our Constitution was intended to serve only the people and states of this union, and their posterity.

The foot-in-the-door for one-worldism is the foot of a party of adventurers, scamps and horrible traitors. The Democratic party took us into a war in 1917 which it were far better for the western world that Germany had won. They were a stronger, more industrious, more moral people than the French. In victory, domineering as they are by nature, they would have driven to the east, as their slogan had it, creating material benefits and imposing discipline but not the Russian slavery. Earlier than that we had sniffed the stimulating crystals of "manifest destiny" and dreamt of imperial powers. In the last war, before the defeat in Korea, we tried to justify to ourselves attacks on German men as dear to Germans as our men were to us, on the ground that they were bad and the British and French were good and so deserved our help at the expense of all truth, perhaps our national life.

But these ventures were all violations of the plain spirit and intent of the American Constitution.

Reed Predicts Democrat Victory, Unless Taxes Cut

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R.-N.Y.) predicted today that if taxes are not cut this year, the Democrats will win back control of Congress in 1954.

Taking direct issue with President Eisenhower, Reed said a promise to cut taxes "was one of the main pledges made during the campaign" by GOP members of Congress "and the President too." Eisenhower has said he never promised to reduce taxes right away.

"You'd be surprised the way the people resent the failure to keep that pledge," Reed said in a copyrighted interview published today by the magazine U. S. News and World Report. "If the people don't get this tax reduction now, you will have a Democratic Congress next time."

Balks at Provisions

Reed, in a position as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee to influence taxes more than any other man in Congress, has been balking at two major provisions of Eisenhower's tax program:

1. A request that the excess profits tax on business, due to expire at the end of this month, be extended for six months to bring in an estimated 800 million dollars toward balancing the budget. Reed wants the tax to expire on schedule.

2. A request that a 10 per cent cut in individual income taxes be permitted to take effect next Jan. 1, as scheduled under present law. Reed wants to advance it to July 1.

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R.-Mass.) said over the weekend he knows a majority of the 15 Republicans on Reed's committee "are ready to bring * * * to the House floor" an extension of the excess profits tax. But Reed said that "except for possibly three members" the Republicans on his group want the tax to expire.

There has been no indication that Reed will call his committee together to act on the excess profits tax extension. House GOP leaders concede that unless he does so, there may be no way to get the bill to the floor.

Colby Coed Booked On Murder Charge Of Own Baby Girl

Waterville, Me., June 15 (AP)—While classmates joined today in commencement, the happy climactic day of college life, Colby College Coed Harriet Sart, 21, conferred with parents and counsel about her pending arraignment on a murder charge.

The tiny, blonde, Nahant, Mass., senior was booked for murder after discovery yesterday of the decomposed body of a baby in a stored trunk bearing her name.

County Attorney Joseph B. Campbell said Miss Sart would be arraigned in municipal court tomorrow.

Gave Birth Unaided

Campbell quoted Miss Sart as saying she gave birth to the baby girl unaided in a single room at the dormitory and put the infant in a trunk which was stored in the dormitory basement.

Campbell would not say when the child was born or died, pending an autopsy report.

A rawhide cord of the type used for shoe laces was wrapped around the baby's neck, Campbell said.

The discovery was made by a janitor tracing an unpleasant odor in the basement while baccalaureate services were being conducted on another part of the campus.

Campbell said the girl missed only one day's classes—the day the child was born—and gained only seven pounds while carrying it.

He said she told him she had shipped home three trunks and had planned to ship the trunk containing the body tomorrow.

Eisenhower Says

mation designating this week as "Theodore Roosevelt Week," Eisenhower said there is a tendency "when we cast our minds back to dramatic figures of the past to over-dramatize them."

The picture of "Teddy Roosevelt, a rough rider," is an example, Eisenhower said. He added:

"We like to think of his relationships with the Congress as galloping down Pennsylvania avenue on a spirited charger with a sabre in his hand and riding into House and Senate and demanding what he wanted, and riding out with everybody cowed."

However, Eisenhower said, Roosevelt was "a wise leader" and "not a swashbuckler."

Eisenhower then gave this appraisal of Roosevelt:

A "great moral leader," also "A great soldier in his regiment, * * * great student, and a great writer * * *.

"* * * he was a man who understood his fellow human beings. He understood those things for which they yearned, and which they deserved under the principles in which he believed. And he set out by patient work. * * *

"* * * as we look back and study his career, and get more perspective, it grows only more brilliant with time. * * *"

Eisenhower stopped here at the end of a flying five-day speaking trip across the country. The President visited in a number of midwestern and New England states, coming here from Dartmouth College at Hanover, N. H. He returned to Washington late yesterday.

Among those who also spoke at Sagamore Hill were Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, and former President Hoover, who introduced Eisenhower as "Theodore Roosevelt's successor."

'Hot Rod Katie' Put on Probation

New York, June 15 (AP) — Mrs. Catherine Fiore, 22-year-old mother characterized by police as "Hot Rod Katie" and "the Fordham Hot Rod" because of her penchant for fast automobiles, was placed on probation today for three years and ordered to stay out of automobiles by Bronx County Judge Eugene G. Schulz.

She had pleaded guilty before him to a charge of criminally receiving stolen goods.

Mrs. Fiore, who lives at 3831 Pratt avenue, the Bronx, with her son, Anthony 4, pleaded guilty last April 13. The court sentenced her to an indeterminate term in the city penitentiary but stayed execution of the sentence.

"Stay out of automobiles," Judge Schulz said. "Drive no more and take care of your child."

At another point, the court told the defendant:

"You are completely irresponsible and its only because your child needs a mother's care that I'm placing you on probation."

Mrs. Fiore, police said, is separated from her husband, Nicholas.

She became known as "Hot Rod Katie" after traffic violations recently had cost her $877 in fines.

In her magistrates court appearances, she usually appeared attired in slacks and other rough clothes. Today she looked demure and feminine in curled black hair and a light blue summer print dress.

County Vols Meet Tuesday

Final plans for the annual convention in July in the town of Ulster will be made at a meeting tomorrow at 8 p. m., in Centerville of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. The firemen will be guests of the Saxton and Centerville fire companies. The convention is scheduled to be held July 16, 17 and 18.

British Sub Ends Long Underwater Trip

Portsmouth, England, June 15 (AP)—A British submarine reached England today after a 2,500-mile trip from Bermuda—made all the way under water. It evidently took about two weeks.

The trip was only about half as long as the 5,200-mile underwater run by the U. S. submarine Pickerel in 1950. That trip was from Hong Kong to Pearl Harbor in 21 days.

Both the American and British submarines were equipped with snorkel apparatus, a breathing tube extending to the surface. This apparatus was developed by the Germans during World War 2, from a Dutch idea.

Why We Say--

. . . Tender spot

We refer to a man's vulnerable spot as the "Achilles' Heel" in allusion to a Greek myth. Achilles mother made him strong by dipping him in the river Styx. The prescription worked, but his one weak spot was his heel where his mother held him. Achilles died of a wound received in the heel.

Cleanup Drive Is Begun in Alabama To Combat Polio

Montgomery, Ala., June 15 (AP)—An urgent garbage, trash and barnyard cleanup campaign is underway in Montgomery to combat the nation's worst outbreak of polio thus far in 1953.

But the first response has been discouraging, and Dr. A. H. Graham, Montgomery County Health Officer, warned that the "people must cooperate" in the drive to stamp out breeding grounds for disease-carrying insects, particularly flies.

Forty-four children and two adults have been stricken with polio, the heaviest toll recorded here at this time of the year. Twenty-eight victims have suffered partial or total paralysis, but there has been only one death so far.

Dr. Morris Schaeffer, director of the Virus Laboratory of the U. S. Public Health Service here, said Montgomery with a population of 105,000 is the hardest hit community in the nation on a per capital basis. The toll here is greater than the rest of Alabama put together.

Without any proof that polio is borne by any one carrier, public health officials nevertheless are concentrating on the clean-up campaign, together with a block-by-block city-sponsored insect spraying project.

The emphasis on fly eradication is a result of Health Officer Graham's determination to overlook nothing in the fight against the crippling polio.

And while it may be just coincidence, he says the fly problem is worst this year than he has ever seen it in Montgomery.

Whether flies alone can cause a severe outbreak of polio, this much is certain, says Dr. Schaeffer:

Scientists know that the virus is present in sewage, and some types of flies can become contaminated with it.

President Hits 'Book Burners' In College Talk

Washington, June 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower, speaking out against "the book burners," declared yesterday that Americans must fight communism "with something better, not try to conceal the thinking of our own people."

Eisenhower named no names, but his statement recalled the demand by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), acceded to by the State Department, that the government withdraw from its overseas libraries books by authors who are known Communists or fellow travelers.

The President said even those with whose views we disagree have a right to have their views on record in public places—"or it is not America."

"Don't join the book burner," the President told the graduating class at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N. H. "Don't think you are going to swerve something by concealing evidence that it ever existed, don't be afraid to go to the library and read every book, so long as that document does not offend our own ideas of decency * * *.

Must Not Conceal Thinking

"How will we defeat communism, unless we know what it is, and why it has such an appeal for men? Why are so many people swearing allegiance to it? It is almost a religion—albeit in one of the nether regions. We have got to fight it with something better, not try to conceal the thinking of our own people."

This was the first of two short talks the President made yesterday in the whirlwind finish to a five-day speaking tour which took him into five states. He also flew over serious storm damage in Michigan and Massachusetts and pledged federal aid and money toward reconstruction.

Back at his desk today, the President's first appointment (7:30 a. m. EST) was with the Republican congressional leaders—not including Sen. Taft (R-Ohio, undergoing threatment in New York city for a hip ailment.

Dedicates TR Home as Shrine

From New Hampshire, the President flew to Oyster Bay, N. Y., and dedicated the summer home of Theodore Roosevelt as a national shrine. He shared the platform with former President Herbert Hoover and New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

At Dartmouth, where he received an honorary doctor of laws degrees, he spoke before an audience of about 10,000 spectators and 563 graduates.

News Straw Poll Indicates Halley As Mayor Choice

New York, June 15 (AP)—City Council President Rudolph Halley has come out on top in the New York Daily News mayoral preference poll.

Final returns in the poll, the News announced today, showed Halley got nearly one straw to every three cast for his combined opposition.

Calling Halley "the people's choice for mayor—as of now," the newspaper said he carried outright 34 of the 67 assembly districts, and also tied in two.

Halley ran 5-to-4 over second-place Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who says he is not a candidate, and built up a 5-to-3 margin over Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri in third place.

Halley was 2-to-1 over Kings county (Brooklyn) Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz, who was fourth, and topped fifth-place Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan by about 5-to-2.

Halley carried four of the five boroughs, losing Manhattan to Roosevelt by 38 straws.

The aggregate for the seven Republicans among the 15 names on the preference poll ballot came to only 14.1 per cent of the straws cast.

The News said the poll's "sample was substantial, each straw being equivalent to about 350 eligible voters"—a total of 2,625,000.

Quick Truce Signs

win more ground before an armistice and push the truce line closer to the 38th Parallel—the pre-war political dividing line.

2. The Reds also may want to be able to claim a "final victory" for prestige purposes. This would allow them to claim in Asia-aimed propaganda they were winning when the shooting stopped.

3. The Chinese could be bent on trying to impress the South Koreans who have vowed to fight on alone.

Could Be Delaying

4. Or they could be deliberately delaying an armistice for reasons of their own.

In his broadcast, Taylor warned UN troops not to have any visions of a quick trip home.

"There must be no thought of going home until permanent peace and stability has been restored to Korea," he said.

"The Eighth Army must live in accordance with the terms of the armistice" and must man the battle stations "until it is definitely established that the fighting will not be resumed."

He added, "the armistice is not a peace—it is only a pause in the fighting" until a post-armistice political conference writes a final peace.

South Korean military and civilian leaders for the most part withheld comment on Taylor's address.

However, a few expressed pleasure at the statement that there should be no thought of going home until permanent peace has been restored.

dominant character of the American people at any time. And it certainly refutes the contention that Senator Pat McCarran, personally, out of cruel bigotry which is foreign to his known disposition, put over the immigation law now on our books. This law was passed by Congress according to the constitutional method and was passed again over Harry Truman's veto by the same Congress, again according to the Constitution. So that was the solemn, considered intent of Congress.

It is no digression to insist that this action on immigration further supports Attlee's contention, and mine, that the Constitution was devised for the benefit of the people and the states of this Union and not with an eye to the interests of any foreign people or state. We had turned our faces west and repudiated the political emotions and customs of the Old World except that admittedly we did draw on the best in the British political charters for ideas in contriving ours. We pointedly acknowledged the existence of such a thing as treason against each of the several states, a tribute to their integrity and rights, as states, which were absolutely lost to view in the grand treasons of 1937 when the Committee for Industrial Organization was waging terror in many states. Roosevelt encouraged this program of treason and rewarded Frank Murphy, the governor of Michigan, for his failure, through cowardice or treachery, to put down treason in Michigan.

There is nothing in the Constitution to conflict with Attlee's belief and mine that our Constitution was intended to serve only the people and states of this union, and their posterity.

The foot-in-the-door for one-worldism is the foot of a party of adventurers, scamps and horrible traitors. The Democratic party took us into a war in 1917 which it were far better for the western world that Germany had won. They were a stronger, more industrious, more moral people than the French. In victory, domineering as they are by nature, they would have driven to the east, as their slogan had it, creating material benefits and imposing discipline but not the Russian slavery. Earlier than that we had sniffed the stimulating crystals of "manifest destiny" and dreamt of imperial powers. In the last war, before the defeat in Korea, we tried to justify to ourselves attacks on German men as dear to Germans as our men were to us, on the ground that they were bad and the British and French were good and so deserved our help at the expense of all truth, perhaps our national life.

But these ventures were all violations of the plain spirit and intent of the American Constitution.
